

Arlington looking for increased water supply

Wells must keep pace with population growth

Can water supply of local municipalities keep pace with the demand? The Chicago-Cook Co. Health Survey, released this week, says "no". The survey urges a metropolitan water system to serve, besides Chicago, 143 communities in Cook, Lake and DuPage counties.

The report suggests a special act of the state legislature to make possible the establishment of a special taxing body to construct and maintain a metropolitan water system which will get its supply from Lake Michigan.

The report claims that the water supply is diminishing and that a large part of water coming from municipal wells is not as pure as it should be. It urges the establishment of large filtration plants.

Such municipalities as Arlington Heights and Palatine have prided themselves on the quality of their well water. Mt. Prospect is giving some thought to solving its water supply problems by the use of Lake Michigan water through Chicago Drainage District facilities.

Arlington Heights has spent a lot of money the past ten years to insure an adequate supply from its wells, three new wells having been drilled during that period; one of which went out of commission within six years after its construction. The officials are now pinning their faith on deeper wells.

Water consumption in Arlington Heights has risen 50% within one year, jumping from 13 million in January 1946 to 21 million in January 1947. Three-quarters of water used today in Arlington Heights comes from the latest well, "rebuilt" and deepened last summer. A $20,000 well drilled in 1942, is now only second best.

The logs of Arlington Heights wells are:

East well—near standpoint, originally drilled twenty years ago; due to seepage was put out of service for five years. Deepened last year to a depth of 1,550 feet, has a capacity of 800 gallons a minute, delivered 13,250,000 gallons during January, 1947.

Northside well—Chestnut and Hawthorne; deepened to 923 feet in 1936; out of service four years. The board Monday night authorized an examination of the well by a well contractor with the possibility of sinking present shaft from its present St. Peter standpoint into the Galesville area at 1,300 feet depth. The board hopes to pay the costs of the deepened well out of water department funds without asking for a bond issue. Due to faulty liner the well cannot be used in its present condition.

Westside well—West Wing; drilled 1,550 feet deep in 1942; supply of water has dropped from the original 450 gallons a minute to about 350. It furnishes 4½ million gallons of water during January. Arlington has had no water famine for several years, but the water consumption has increased at such a rate that plans must be made for additional source of supply. The village dads think the northside well is the best bet.

Our New Neighbors

This is the second installment of interviews with Arlington's newest residents. More next week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Ernst, 921 N. Princeton heard so many good things about Arlington Heights that they chose this community for their future home. They not only like their neighbors and the residents generally, but they also think that Arlington has some pretty nice stores and pleasant sales people. "It is a pleasure to shop in a store where the clerks are courteous and well stocked in smiles," says Mrs. Ernst.

Mr. Ernst is a chief inspector in Davidson Co., manufacturers of printing and duplicating equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Johnson, 1507 W. Brown, picked Arlington Heights over other adjoining towns because of its climate and wide open spaces. The "gold coast" towns along the lake have no attraction for them because of their dampness due to Lake Michigan. There are five children in the Johnson household, all in the elementary school grades two, three, sixth and seventh. Two of the children are nephews.

Mr. Johnson is an electrician at Continental Electric in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Smith, 311 Three States Boulevard, decided they wanted to live in a North-west suburb. They had what Mrs. Smith calls a "passing acquaintance from passing through the town and we were delighted when we found a home in a community with all the advantages that you have."

The Smiths have two sons, one a cadet in Morgan Park Military Academy and the other too young to attend school. Mr. Smith is in the cartage business in Chicago.

The continual boosting about Arlington that was given by a friend induced Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dritelein, 213 N. Princeton to locate in Arlington Heights. The environment of the town they think is good for small children as well as grownups. They have a son who is attending St. Peter Lutheran school. Mr. Dritelein operates a body and fender shop in Chicago and nothing would please him better than to some day move his business to the City of Good Neighbors.

Earle R. Browne of El Monte, Calif., is one of Arlington Heights' newest residents. He recently purchased the Wayman residence at 702 N. Dunton, where he will repair watches until he is able to secure a location in the business district. Mr. Browne was originally a Chicago man where he learned the watch repair business. In 1929 he went west and was employed in the jewel-

What Arlington Needs . .

When our inquiring reporter stated in last week's issue that criticisms of the town were as welcome as praise, there were a number of new residents who took him at his word. Here are their suggestions as to what Arlington Heights needs:

A modern tea room. Health inspection of all eating places, especially the places serving light refreshments, including fountain drinks.

City-wide bus service. Improved school bus service. (Children walk four blocks to take a bus, arriving at school 25 minutes too early.)

Better and more street lights. Better shopping district.

Everyone of those who made the above suggestions had some nice things to say about the town. Because they did not hesitate to make the suggestions, their words of praise carry all the more weight. The adjoining column carry the "roses".

ry store that was purchased by G. E. Wilke after he left Arlington. He had spent two years in the navy in instrument repair work.

In spite of California, Browne had a desire to return to his old stamping grounds and when he learned that Fred Hintz, who was driving back to Illinois, the C. M. Behrens car with an empty seat, he became the passenger.

Upon making the acquaintance of Arlington Heights people, he chose the town as his future home. He sent word to his family to join him and here he is. The Browne family includes three children, Ronald and Bonnie now in the local high school and David in the elementary school.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Cox, whose home is at North Princeton, is another family which came from distant places to live in Arlington Heights. Their home was in Washington, D. C., until last March. Transferred to Chicago they found Arlington—do not yet know how it happened, but they are very happy about it. "The country atmosphere is delicious," says Mrs. Cox.

They have two children, one of whom is in kindergarten. Mr. Cox is sales manager for an aluminum company.

Arlington Heights secured a booster when Edward L. Coburn was transferred to Chicago a year ago, and he found a place for his family at 1609 W. Brown. They wish that a regular bus service was in operation because "attractive as the town appears, it is rather cold to have to walk the many blocks to the business district." They have two daughters, one in high school and one attending business college.

Mr. Coburn is with General Finance in Chicago.

Snow and ice cut violation of traffic code

Since the snow storm the village police have spent the majority of their time in other ways than apprehending traffic violators. The fines for the last two week period were only $9. "The snow banks automatically cut speeding" explained Chief Skoog. There were only three minor accidents and no crimes reported.

Building permits during January were one $10,000 family dwelling and two remodeling jobs.

Authority was granted the fire department to order additional hose not to cost over $420, which is not sufficient to purchase the 500 feet requested by Chief Jahn. Bills and payroll totaled $4,560.29.

The village authorized the acceptance of Eastgate subdivision lying between Hickory and Dreyden, Euclid and Miner. This is the former Klehm woods.

An ordinance was passed fixing penalty upon any minor who attempts to purchase a drink in a tavern.

Ordinance was passed changing the name of Tri-State Drive to Windsor Drive. This street is laid out as a two drive street with lawn between the drives and was originally supposed to be the Route 83 thru Arlington Heights, which route now passes thru Mt. Prospect.

Permission was granted the VFW and the Firemen to use street adjacent to Recreational Park for a business show and festival to take place in July.

Request for permission to hold tent meetings in the village during July was temporarily held up until the applicant could be told about the counter attractions that same month.

A letter was read from Edward E. Silk, 1308 Watling st. asking improvement of Yale st. He will be told that the board can not improve any street that is not properly dedicated for its entire width, not a half street.

Village says 'no' to Tackett

If the Wm. C. Tackett organization discover some morning that their wooden office building in Stonegate is on the junk pile, it has only itself to blame. Mayor Goedke thinks the reality firm has been pussy-footing long enough.

The municipality has asked that Tackett furnish a bond that the building be removed within two years. Tackett counters with a bond signed by the W. C. Tackett Co. and guaranteed by him. Adjoining property owners claim they are not able to mark their properties as long as that building is there and some guarantee should be given that it will be removed.

The board will insist upon a regular surety bond.

Folk dance session Tuesday for adult girl scouts here

The Janet Tobitt sessions, sponsored by the Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Des Plaines and Barrington Girl Scouts Councils, will be held at the Arlington fieldhouse Tuesday, February 11. The first two hour session will start at 1:30 and the second session begins at 7:30.

These classes are open only to the adult members of the Girl Scout organization and is free of charge. The teachers of the schools and churches in the communities are invited to attend and are welcome at either or both sessions.

Participation in a number of singing and play-party games and folk dances affords the group actual experience in ready to use material suitable for every age. The dances of the first session will be round, square, couple or longways, and they, as well as the songs, are of varying nationalities. As these are being learned hints are given on presentation, leadership, the use of source material, with other activities, and the planning of recreation programs.

The second session will cover participation in further activities allied to the music field, such as dramatized ballads and choral speech. There will also be a discussion of song leading, teaching, and a more thorough learning of material presented at the first session.

Adult Scouts in Mt. Prospect are asked to notify Mrs. Wm. Turner (Tel. 926-J) which session he or she wish to attend. Anyone who wishes to attend both sessions is more than welcome to do so. Please bring notebooks and wear light, comfortable clothing.

Prediction of fatal accident at R. R. comes true

It was two months ago that members of Mt. Prospect village board were discussing dangers at the two railroad crossings in that village. One board member said, "some day that 5:45 p. m. fast train is going to kill somebody."

The village board that evening passed a motion requesting that gates be installed or a watchman be placed on duty.

That prediction came true last Friday when that particular fast train killed Emil Nerge.

Tuesday evening, February 4, four days after the Nerge death, trustee Mott presented a letter from the Northwestern railroad, which reads in part:

There are numerous crossings on the C&N.W. Railway System protected by wig wag signals and it has not been found necessary to provide watchmen at such protected crossings unless extreme hazard exists account poor visibility of approaching trains or unusual number of switching movements causing the signals to operate unnecessarily. These conditions do not prevail at the two indicated crossings at Mt. Prospect; the view of approaching trains being reasonably good.

Under the circumstances, it is believed that flagman protection, in addition to present wig wag protection, is not warranted at these two crossings.

Article 12, Paragraph 83, Section 1(a) of the Revised Motor Vehicle Law of Illinois, reads as follows:

"Whenever any person driving a vehicle approaches a railroad grade crossing and a clearly visible electric or mechanical signal device gives warning of the immediate approach of a train, the driver of such vehicle shall stop within fifty feet but not less than ten feet from the nearest track of such railroad and shall not proceed until he can do so safely."

Investigation on the ground disclosed that traffic over these two crossings pay close attention to the wig wag signal indications.

Two residents of Bensenville were killed and three others were injured at this same crossing June 17, 1942.

Same condition at Palatine

The village of Palatine is also asking for crossing gates and is getting as fast as Mt. Prospect. Recent deaths there are:

June 22, 1946—William Trow at Plum Grove crossing.

Oct. 1, 1946—Leonard Nebel and Wesley Comfort at Brockway street crossing.

August 19, 1946—Car hit by train at Brockway street crossing, occupant escaping injury.

Jan. 15, 1943—Car of an Inverness woman hit at Brockway street.

Mt. Prospect village attorney was instructed Tuesday night to ask the Illinois Commerce Commission to direct the railroad to provide adequate crossing protection in Mt. Prospect. The suggestion was made that perhaps an enraged citizens committee would hasten action.

1947 fishing license on sale day and night

Village Clerk Forrest Davis has a supply of Illinois 1947 Fishing License and they may be purchased at the Village Hall any time of the day or night. During regular office hours apply at the Village Clerk's office, and on holidays or evenings apply at the Arlington Heights police office.

Arlington and Palatine firemen want new trucks

Arlington Heights and Palatine firemen are asking the purchase of new fire trucks. Arlington firemen suggest the replacement of the present Seagraves with a modern job and the rebuilding of the old Seagraves into a squad truck, retaining the present pump.

Palatine firemen have made a proposition to the village board of that town that if the village will replace the old LaFrance truck purchased by the village twenty years ago, the firemen will buy a second truck. At present the only modern trucks in the Palatine fire protection fleet are two outfits purchased and owned by the Rural Fire League, which are housed in the such as dramatized ballads and choral speech. There will also be a discussion of song leading, teaching, and a more thorough learning of material presented at the first session.

Adult Scouts in Mt. Prospect are asked to notify Mrs. Wm. Turner (Tel. 926-J) which session he or she wish to attend. Anyone who wishes to attend both sessions is more than welcome to do so. Please bring notebooks and wear light, comfortable clothing.

School janitor killed by train at Mount Prospect

Emil Nerge, 8 North Wille st., Mt. Prospect, was killed instantly at 5:45 p.m. Friday, January 31 when his car was hit by southbound fast train No. 649, at the main street crossing in Mt. Prospect.

It was dark, and the roadway was filled with hard packed snow. The wig-wag signal guarding the crossing at the C.N.W. RR. was lighted red and moving back and forth. Two cars were standing in front of Nerge waiting for the all clear to allow them to cross the track safely. To the right was a standing freight car obscuring the vision of any southeast bound train.

Nerge pulled to the left and passed the 2 standing cars. As he came to the southeast bound tracks he met the thru train which completely smashed the front end of Nerge's '41 Ford Tudor, then caused the rear end of the auto to spin to the left, slamming the left rear up against the step of the first coach. The terrific impact caused the car doors to be forced open and threw Nerge out. A few short feet away he struck ground, and met his death.

The medical details are not pleasant. Speeding railroad trains and autos are not soft cushions. A crushed chest and broken legs will only begin to describe the condition of Nerge's lifeless body.

Funeral services were held from the Karstens-Fairbanks funeral home to Mt. Prospect Ev. Lutheran Church Tuesday evening, February 4, with Rev. J. E. A. Mueller officiating. Interment was in Lake Street Memorial cemetery.

Mr. Nerge was employed as janitor at the Mt. Prospect elementary school. He had many friends among the school children, understanding their problems and many times lending them a helping hand in their play, joys and sorrow. Obituary appears on page 6.

Mt. Prospect wants a piece of cake if it is ever baked

W. C. Lathen, local manager of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. attended the Mt. Prospect village board meeting Tuesday night asking for action on the franchise which has been awaiting approval for some time. The board members are standing pat on the insertion of a clause in the village to a commission on phone business if and when the company gives such commissions to any other municipality.

As President Pendleton put it, "we want to be sure that we get a piece of the cake, if it is ever baked". He assured Mr. Lathen that the board realized the importance of the service the telephone company is giving to Mt. Prospect but the board is looking towards the future and wants to be in a position to cut in on any "dividends" that might be coming this way.

The Illinois Bell Telephone Co. has been operating in Mt. Prospect without a contract for a number of years.

Just to show that the village board had no grudge against the phone company, the board turned down a request from the Illinois Municipal League that it make a cash contribution to a fund for the purpose of opposing the petition of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. for increased rates.

chanic) and John Ahlgren (operator of a fleet of trucks). "With such a committee we can't go wrong," says Chief Comfort. At present Arlington Heights has only two pumps. The firemen need a speed wagon on which the inhalator could be permanently carried with night lighting equipment, gas masks, and other special equipment.

By the purchase of one new outfit and the rebuilding of the old Seagraves with retention of the pumper, Arlington would have the service of three pumps in case of emergencies. Chief Jahn and the firemen think that such equipment would be good insurance for a town of 6,000 inhabitants with assessed valuations of over ten million dollars. "To attempt to protect that much property with only two fire trucks is poor business," says Chief Jahn. "If Palatine can afford four pumps, Arlington can certainly afford three."

Mt. Prospect has two trucks the same as Arlington. At this time they are not planning on any expansion of equipment, being more interested in the erection of a proper quarters to house present equipment.

500 planes will use airport at Arlington, survey predicts

A busy summer in Arlington

July and August are going to be busy months in Arlington Heights. Four civic celebrations are on the schedule with a possibility of a fifth being added. The exact dates are not all fixed as yet but negotiations are in progress. Here they are:

July 4, 5, 6—Annual Fourth of July celebration for benefit of war memorial and recreation funds.

July 23-27—V. F. W. - Fire Dept. combination festival and business exposition. (Car to be given away.)

August 22, 23-4-H club fair, sponsored by Chamber of Commerce.

The Lions club has set no date for its festival but the American Legion will open the carnival season with its annual carnival the latter part of June.

Carnival bells will be ringing long and frequent this year around Recreation Park.

Psychiatrist will be third speaker on Arlington lecture series

Dr. Beryl D. Orris, brilliant young American psychiatrist, will address the Arlington Sunday evening lecture series February 16 with the subject "There is no delinquency."

Dr. Orris has had a wide experience as a world traveler and observer. On his recent visit to post-war Europe he made a special study of juvenile delinquency as a preliminary work to setting up a youth rehabilitation program. He has been invited to return to Europe and assist in setting up a youth rehabilitation movement there.

During the first year of World War II he lived in both Paris and London and was, therefore, in an enviable position to make a first-hand study of the approaching storm that engulfed the whole world. He saw Hitler enter Vienna and heard him speak. In addition to having a rich cultural background, he has personality, poise and an easy, fluent speech. He leaves his talks with keen wit and humor.

Dr. Orris' interest in the youth of Europe and America has been manifest in his varied activities in the field of attitudes and problems of young people, and especially evident in the causes, treatment and results of delinquency. He is more than adequately equipped to deal with the problem of Preventive Psychiatry, bridging the gap between adolescence and adulthood, adding thereby in the formation of the character and life work of the individual.

Beryl David Orris was born in Chicago of an American mother and a Prussian father, who early decided that their son would have an opportunity to receive the best that American and European universities had to offer. In order to study specific subjects with specialists, Dr. Orris attended a number of universities in the United States and Europe.

Ask banning of business from South State Road

A representative gathering of Scarsdale residents and others of that area attended the Arlington Heights board meeting Monday evening when Attorney Collins presented a petition asking the rezoning of all lots on the west side of State road between Central road and Grove street. If granted by the village authorities the lots in question can be only used for residential purposes.

To the surprise of the petitioners, the board received the same evening, a communication from the owners of the greater part of the lots south of Fairview asking similar action. The petition also asks the rezoning of lots facing Evergreen ave. from apartments to single residential. The official notice appears in this issue.

Escape prosecution

Four Arlington Heights boys escaped prosecution this week because an Arlington resident refused to sign a complaint that would have held them to trial. The owner of a Dodge car from which accessories had been taken, thought that the boys had been sufficiently punished when the sheriff's police took them over to the station.

The boys had taken white rims and two Dodge hub caps from a car parked at El Rando cafe. They did not know that it was an Arlington car and placed the "loot" upon their Plymouth car, where it was discovered by the original car owner.

Estimate 1½ million dollars required in next eight years

That 500 private planes could be housed at Arlington airport by 1955 with development cost the next eight years aggregating 1½ million dollars was the prediction of the General Airport company in a survey completed for the department of aeronautics of the state of Illinois. The comprehensive study has just been released by the office of Governor Dwight Green in

Airport inquiry

In order to determine the merits of the survey report prepared by General Airport Company, the Department is extending to all parties interested an opportunity to criticize the report and introduce evidence or arguments in connection therewith. For this purpose the public is notified that the above entitled matter has been set for hearings in the nature of an inquiry, the first of such hearings to occur on March 17, 1947, at the hour of 10:00 a. m. in the main hearing room of the Illinois Commerce Commission, 19th Floor, 160 North LaSalle Street, Chicago, Ill.

In order to participate in these hearings, it is required that one fill out a questionnaire and file it with the Department, 116 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago 3, Illinois, on or before March 3, 1947.

The matter is of the utmost importance because the conclusions reached by the Department in connection therewith will be reflected in the State-wide Airport Plan and Airways System which will be used as a basis for State aid for airport and other aeronautical facilities projects, and which will be considered in approving or disapproving airports. Further, the State-wide Airport Plan and Airways System will be given weight in the formulation of the National Airport Plan for this State, which plan will be used as a basis for Federal airport aid.

Technical details to be considered in choosing a site for an airport are varied as that of building a house with type of soil, drainage, surrounding obstructions, topography, zoning laws, meteorological activities, room for expansion, land use, and proximity to higher income groups just a starter.

In many of these factors the Chicago area is considered favorable. Rainfall is 5% less than in other metropolitan areas. The area has a lower percentage of low ceiling clouds, and especially in summer months 98% of the days are clear. Smoke and fog are at a minimum in the N. and northwest areas, while in the south Chicago area there is enough smoke to discourage construction of new ports. The wind in the northwest area, also, is at such a standard velocity that runways in any direction can be constructed. In the southeast area runways must be only NE-SW or N-S.

There were 25 counties represented with 4-H club officials and Farm Bureau executives at the Joliet meeting, as guests of the Public Service Co. which announced a series of county prizes that would be awarded by that organization to two boys and two girls from each county at the Club Congress in Chicago next fall.

The principal speaker at the meeting Monday was Mr. Brundage from the east who talked on 4-H Club leadership and Citizenship. The program was an all-day affair and Mr. Brundage and Mr. Hughes came home enthused with what can be done in Cook county.

Mr. Moehling is ready to meet with the executive committee of the Arlington Chamber of Commerce to lay the ground work and prepare the show program in order that the young people may have plenty of time to plan their live stock and agricultural entries.

High school students to hear Dr. Orris in their own free program

Youth of Arlington Heights and surrounding communities will also have its opportunity to hear Dr. Beryl Orris, a leading authority on world youth movements, who is the third speaker on the Arlington Sunday evening lecture series.

A special program will be held in the afternoon at 4:00 February 16 at the Arlington fieldhouse. Arlington high school students are planning the entire program. No admission fee will be charge and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Besides his knowledge and understanding of the problems of the "teen-agers," Dr. Orris is well known for his keen sense of humor which has appealed to youth throughout the country where he has spoken.

High school students of nearby towns are also invited to attend the program.

Governor Dwight Green in the first step of preparing a master plan of aviation facilities and future needs of the state and Chicago metropolitan area.

"This Navy auxiliary field (Arlington) has been selected to provide facilities for 500 planes in 1955 with no expansion on this number by 1970. The area from which the airport will receive its support indicates that considerable immediate development is practical. Expansion from its present status of a satellite Class I field to a Class II airport with parallel runways will be possible to the south, east and west."

"Drainage is now natural and will have to be developed when expansion of the airport is undertaken. The Navy has constructed a large hangar of good quality. This and other existing buildings would provide a considerable impetus toward conversion to civilian operation. A radio tower 1 mile southwest of the airport must be considered during airport design to prevent its becoming an approach obstruction."

Thus spoke the survey in speaking of recommendations for the Arlington Heights airport of the future, now a "surplus" airport which local interests hope to operate as a municipal Arlington field.

With Chicago area situated at the "air center" of the world, foreign aviation and commercial interests are working toward making the city just that and keeping it that way. Because of this Governor Green called for a survey of present facilities available, future needs, and future facilities recommended by an impartial body. This study of conditions has been made, with many excerpts of this 250 page report reprinted herewith:

Elect new officers

District Seven of the Pure Milk Association held their annual meeting at Wauconda January 30. The officers elected for the coming year are: president, Arthur D. Harting, Arlington Heights; secretary, Ronald Paddock, Wauconda; treasurer, L. W. Pohlman, Palatine; and vice president, W. J. Fritz, Prairie View.

OUR INDUSTRIES

CREAMERY PACKAGE Mfg. Co.

Creamery Package is not only one of Arlington's largest factories, but one of its oldest, the plant having been built over 50 years ago and devoted since that time to milk can manufacture. Contrary to the opinion of some who have asked at the company's office for butter and dairy products, the company does not directly handle dairy products.

However it does have a direct relationship to the dairy industry as a whole and the quality of goods manufactured by it safeguards the health of the general public and protects the well being of thousands of children in this country and abroad whose chief diet is milk.

The average urban dweller probably does not realize how important is the method used in the manufacture of dairy utensils, one of the most important of which is the milk can. Not only must it be correctly manufactured, but it must stand a rigid inspection so that no impurities can be harbored therein during the many years of its use on the farm, in dairies and butter plants.

In the local factory Creamery Package starts with sheet steel which is formed into the various parts that make up a milk can. Then the parts are carefully fitted together. This must be done so that no crevices are left for small quantities of milk to remain in the can, forming breeding places for dangerous bacteria. After 35 lbs. of steel are finally formed into a standard milk can, the next step is to coat it with 1 pound of tin. This process also must be done carefully so that a smooth even coat of tin is over the entire can.

The local factory gives a rigid inspection of articles of its manufacture, which Mgr. Hansen says may add to the cost but maintains Creamery Package standards upon which purchasers of the products expect and which safeguards the health of their users. As an added safeguard health authorities make frequent checkups to see that the manufactured article meets the standards essential to safeguarding the health of the public.

The Arlington plant is one of four in the Northern Illinois-Southern Wisconsin dairy region. The others are at DeKalb, Ill., Ft. Atkinson, Wis., and Lake Mills, Wis. Twenty-one branch offices have been set up throughout the entire country. All types of dairy products processing equipment are made in the various plants. An export office is located in Chicago. Milk cans have been shipped to such far away places as Egypt and Iraq.

The local plant is a large factory for Arlington. There are 325 pieces of machinery. Many presses are used. One has the strength of 600 tons. Five carloads of steel are used each month. Each week four carloads of milk cans leave the factory for use throughout the country.

The war period was a difficult time for all manufacturers. Reduced personnel held up essential maintenance and replacement of machinery was almost impossible. Today Creamery Package Co. is "catching up" with the delayed replacements. Improved machines are being installed that refine the manufacturing methods. New electrical controls are being used in the plant. Next week induction heating will replace older methods used in the plant. Formerly a large amount of time was used to heat the steel hoops which were shrunk on the milk cans. Under the new method only a few seconds are necessary. Employees will especially appreciate the induction method during the summer as it is a much cooler operation.

Before the war Creamery Package had 210 employees. Sixty-nine went into the armed forces. While the number of employees have not returned to full strength of prewar days, it is on its way.

The majority of employees reside in Arlington Heights and Palatine. Each month they take home a total of $26,000, a large part of which is spent locally for food and housing.

Box social at St. Peters February 9

An old fashioned box social will be held at the Arlington Heights St. Peter Lutheran school hall this Sunday, starting at eight o'clock. The ladies planning to attend are required to bring a gayly decorated box of tasty food, which contains enough food for herself and the lucky winning bidder. They are to enclose in the box a card with their name on it. The men are asked to bring their gay spirits and should have enough cash on hand in case they have to outbid another man in order to get the box they desire.

The program planned for the evening promises to be interesting and the evening should be one of fun and gaiety for both young and old.

Woman's association to hear book review

The Woman's Association of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights will meet at the church Wednesday evening, at eight o'clock. Refreshments will be served by Circle Six of the association, of which Mrs. Nicholas Leimetter is chairman. The monthly meeting of the executive board will take place Wednesday afternoon, at two o'clock, in the church.

Boy Scout week starts Friday for 7 days

The Boy Scouts of America, now numbering 1,980,000 will observe the 37th anniversary of the organization during Boy Scout Week, opening Friday, Feb. 7 and closing Thursday, Feb. 13. The theme of the observance is "Scouts of the World-Building for Tomorrow." Through the World Friendship Fund of voluntary gifts established two years ago by the Boy Scouts of America, they have given $110,464.36 to help Boy Scouts overseas rebuild their organizations.

Already 119 shipments of Scout literature, equipment, office supplies and other Scouting materials have been sent to 32 countries.

Nearly one-quarter of the contributed funds has gone for the purchase of uniform cloth and tents. In addition to large shipments of handbooks for use by Boy Scouts and adult leaders overseas the Boy Scouts of America plans to print literature for the Boy Scouts of Korea and Italy in their native languages and with their own illustrations, using the photo-offset process of printing.

As part of the observance of Boy Scout Week, countless Troops will make additional contributions to the World Friendship Fund. Some will raise funds through their own neighborhood Scout shows. Others will contribute Troop dues for February.

The anniversary theme will color the organization's major activities throughout 1947 with the Sixth World Jamboree as the prime dramatic event in World Scouting. The World Jamboree will be held next August 9 to 21 on a large estate at Moisson on the River Seine about 60 miles from Paris.

Plans for the Jamboree are designed to bring about a natural and happy intermingling of Scouts of many lands. Scouts and their adult leaders will live in 15 sub-camps each with 2,000 campers. In each sub-camp will be 1,350 foreign Scouts and 650 French Scouts. Each visiting Jamboree Troop will have attached to it a French Scout as interpreter.

Shirts-Off-Our-Back Drive
A special effort is being made during February to obtain Scout Uniforms and accessories no longer needed for former Scouts here in America. During the first year of this effort more than 400 cases—or twenty tons—of Scout uniforms and equipment were contributed to Scouts in 13 lands.

Scout Sunday, Feb. 9 will see uniformed Boy Scouts attending church with their own Troops or Scouts of their own faith. Those of Jewish faith will hold their observance in synagogues and temples Friday evening, Feb. 7. "The 12th point of the Scout Law reads: 'A Scout is Reverent. He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties, and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion.'"

Onion set exchange moves 165 cars

The Tri-State Onion Set Exchange reports shipment of 165 cars of onion sets through the exchange up until February 1.

The Exchange feels that its operations have been very successful, considering conditions and the first year of its operations.

Ninety percent of the sets in Cook County are pledged to the Exchange and it appeared their price would be around 50¢ a bushel when such began to move. However, the base price was established at $1.25 up until January 15 and will be advanced 1¢ per day after that time. One significant factor is that the 10% of sets not pledged to the Exchange moved at prices just a little below the Exchange price, on an average, so everyone has profited.

Dealers are finding that because of the uncertainty of prices that it is easier to do business with their customers.

Northbrook fire truck carries new mobile telephone

The La France fire truck of the Northbrook Fire Department has been equipped with a radio telephone which will now enable the firemen to make and receive telephone calls while enroute or at fires. This new equipment will help cut down the time and effort previously lost in improper directions and false alarms. The truck can now keep in contact with the telephone operator at all times. It will make possible a better control at fires, as calls can be made immediately for other aid. This is important when more than one call is being handled.

The installation is a telephone with frequency modulation transmitter and receiver hookup relayed to the telephone operator. Calls can be placed and received at any time from the cab of the truck. The telephone is a standard handset mounted in the cab. A flip of the switch calls the operator and the call is then made in the regular way. Calls are received in the same manner. This mobile telephone is one of the wartime developments now placed into peacetime use for the saving of property.

It is a "first" for Northbrook. The La France will be the first fire truck in the country to carry this equipment. The enthusiastic support of the fire department by the people of the village helped to make this latest addition possible. It is in line with the policy to provide the best possible fire protection.

Rural Youth attends Farm and Home week

Seven of the Rural Youth members and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bergman attended some of the Farm and Home Week sessions at the University of Illinois Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 27, 28 and 29.

Walton Bartels, Clarence Hartman, Jack Bingham, Roy Thoms, Bob Lagerhausen and Melvin and Eleanor Krueger attended sessions with Rural Youth members from all over the state. Talks and panel discussions were special features of the day with mixers in the afternoon and evening.

The snow storm Wednesday presented some difficulty, but all those attending the meetings arrived home safely.

Better Paint Jobs

Not so long ago all automobiles were painted by hand and brush. The custom job had 24 to 30 coats of paint and varnish, laboriously hand applied, rubbed and polished. Most cars today get and need only one or two coats of enamel or lacquer which is sprayed on and dried in a fraction of the time and at a fraction of the cost.

Dr. Margery C. Carlson to speak at Garden club

An unusually fine program is being presented February 12 by the Arlington Heights Garden Club. They will have as their guest speaker Dr. Margery C. Carlson, who is Assistant Professor of Botany at Northwestern University, Evanston. The program will be held in the North School Auditorium and will begin at 8 p. m.

Dr. Carlson will tell about "Hunting Plants in Central America," and her talk will be illustrated with Kodachrome slides. She will tell the story of her experiences while hunting plants in El Salvador for the Chicago Natural History Museum and Northwestern University, besides telling about the orchids and strange plants of El Salvador.

Dr. Carlson has been highly applauded whenever she has given a lecture, so this promises to be an interesting program.

Will receive cap at Lutheran Deaconess hospital Friday

Miss Elvira Moehling will receive her nurse's cap Friday evening at ceremonies to be held in the nurses' home of the Lutheran Deaconess hospital. The ceremonies Friday evening will be attended by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Moehling and sister, Marilyn, of Palatine, and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Meyer of Arlington Heights.

Stork shower given Mrs. Genevieve Weber

A surprise stork shower was given in honor of Mrs. Genevieve Weber of Arlington Hts. Estates at the home of Mrs. Fred Bradley, South State rd. last Thursday. A delicious luncheon was served in the stork decorated dining room by the three hostesses of the Thimble Club, Mesdames Fred Bradley, Curtiss Bradley and William Diehl.

After the gifts for both the mother and the baby-to-be were opened and admired the rest of the afternoon was spent playing buncos.

Another surprise for Mrs. Weber was the presence of her mother at the shower. She came from Chicago to take part in the occasion.

Adelaide Bach marries Floyd Hart in ceremony

A simple yet lovely ceremony united in marriage Miss Adelaide Bach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bach of Prospect Hts. and Floyd W. Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto W. Hart of Crystal Lake. The service was held at 4 o'clock January 26 at the home of the bride with Pastor Robert F. Klepper of the Prospect Heights Community church officiating.

Tall palms and white tapers in candelabra beautified the altar setting for the occasion.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father was lovely in an ice blue afternoon dress wearing a white rose corsage.

Mrs. Fred Kittredge, sister of the groom was matron of honor. She was dressed in a gown of pearl gray crepe and wore a pink camellia corsage. Mr. Kittredge served the groom as best man.

A reception followed the ceremony for the immediate family. The beautifully appointed table was centered with a 2 tier wedding cake upon which stood a miniature bride and groom and tall tapers on either side.

For her going away ensemble Mrs. Hart wore a poudre-blue gaberdine suit with navy blue accessories. The happy couple left on a ten day honeymoon for New York and Bradford, Penn., where they will visit the bride's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Lehman.

Upon their return the couple will reside at 27 Grant st., Crystal Lake.

Mr. Hughes' talk o Lincoln and box social features of Rural Youth

All rural young people are invited to attend the next meeting of the Rural Youth. The feature of the evening will be Mr. Hughes' talk on "Lincoln at Gettysburg," after which he will show colored slides of Lincoln's home. George Hansen will again call square dances at the meeting and Mel Krueger will provide the music with his piano accompaniment. Be sure to come for an interesting evening, new members are always welcome.

For refreshments, the committee has planned a "box social." Wilbert Zars will be the auctioneer, all boxes going to the highest bidder. Girls of Northern Cook county are especially urged to come, as the boys want to be sure there will be enough boxes to go around.

Better Living Began with Edison's Birth a Century Ago

WITH the birth of Thomas Alva Edison the greatest period of progress in the history of the world began. Many men of vision have, of course, contributed to this scientific advance, but Edison more than any other man, personifies the progress of the era.

In 1847, when Edison was born, America was still a vast pioneering country. Adventurers, lured west by gold, jogged overland by stage-coaches. In the cities of the east flickering gas lamps lit the drawing rooms, but oil lamps flourished throughout the parlors of the "back country." This was the world of the youthful Edison.

Today, through the development of his 1,110 patented inventions, Edison is a dominant influence in all of our lives. During the century since his birth, we have come to accept as commonplace the incandescent and fluorescent lamp, talking pictures, movies, phonographs and scores of other direct results of his genius. Less well known, but of great importance, were, for instance, Edison's development of the basic principles of electronics and the invention of the long rotary kiln

Notice of Public Hearing

Notice is hereby given that a Public Hearing will be held on a petition for an amendment to the Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, Illinois, at 8:00 o'clock p. m., Tuesday evening, February 25, 1947, in the Municipal Building, Arlington Heights, Illinois.

The property involved is described as follows:

"Commercial District"
Lots 1 to 12, both inclusive in Block 8; and Lots 1 to 12 both inclusive in Block 9 in Arlington Addition, being a subdivision of Lot 12, Assessors Division, in Section 32, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the 3rd Principal Meridian; and

Lots 314 to 377 both inclusive in R. Roy Berry Co.'s Laudymont Terrace, being a subdivision of part of the southeast 1/4 of Section 31 and part of the southwest 1/4 of Section 32, Township 42 North, Range 11 East of the 3rd Principal Meridian; and Lots 1 to 8 both inclusive in R. A. Cepek's Arlington Highlands, a subdivision of part of the southeast 1/4 of Section 31 and part of the southwest 1/4 of Section 32, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the 3rd Principal Meridian.

"Residence District B"
Lots 230 to 313 both inclusive in H. Roy Berry Co.'s Laudymont Terrace, being a subdivision of part of the southeast 1/4 of Section 31 and part of the southwest 1/4 of Section 32, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the 3rd Principal Meridian.

The amendment, as proposed, seeks to rezone the above described property from its present classification of a "Commercial District" and "Residence District B" to Residence District A or such variation as the Zoning Board of Appeals may have the power to grant.

413 autos to date to leg-less veterans

A total of 413 automobiles have been delivered to disabled veterans in Illinois and northern Indiana at a cost of the Veterans Administration of $665,000, it was disclosed by Robert D.
Beer, manager of the Illinois regional office.

The vehicles have been arriving at an average rate of at least two a day since August 8, when the VA was authorized to purchase cars for World War II veterans who have lost the use of one or both feet.

At the same time, Mr. Beer announced that eligible veterans may use their entitlement to secure tractors and other farm equipment instead of private conveyances.

The regional manager praised those Illinois dealers who, despite rising costs and previous commitments, are speeding delivery of the cars. A number of them, he said, have reduced their sales price below actual cost so as to remain within the $1,600 limitation set by Congress.
Under a self-imposed priority system, many manufacturers are making delivery within six weeks after receipt of the dealer's order.

Farm Electricity

A 20th Century Fund report estimates that 40 to 50 per cent of farm electric power is used for irrigation, 30 per cent for household appliances and 20 to 30 per cent for lighting barns and operating such small equipment as pumps and milking machines.

Airport survey —

municipal operation of an airport the municipal is rated the best for the state and federal aid be secured for installation of proper facilities at any port.

Frown on some ports

Every airport in this area was considered in on the spot studies, including Arlington, Pal-Waukee, Sky Harbor, Wood Dale, Barrington, Schaumburg, Spoorlehn and Wheeling.

Barrington is rated inadvisable because of topography. The "no" was given Schaumburg because of the large amount of fill needed with its accompanying cost. Spoorlehn airport, approximately 4 miles northwest of Wheeling, was also ruled out as economically inadvisable. Wheeling port, one mile northwest of Wheeling, was also frowned upon for being "too limited". Consolidation of many of the navy auxiliary fields managements was urged as a possibility.

At Pal-Waukee expansion to a Class II field with parallel runways is recommended immediately. The airport's facilities are recommended for students. Operations in 1955 call for 100 planes and close to the number already exist. In 1970 200 private planes and 100 student planes may be based there, though investment will be an additional $947,000.
Expansion can be made to the south and west.

Sky Harbor outlook

Sky Harbor port should be expanded to a Class II port and provided with facilities for 400 executive, 50 contract cargo and 50 charter and feeder line planes for 1970. Expansion is possible to the north, northeast, southeast and west. Artificial and natural

Tavern Ordinance REGARDING MINORS

An ordinance to amend an ordinance entitled: "An ordinance to regulate the sale of alcoholic liquors in the Village of Arlington Heights, County of Cook and State of Illinois," passed and approved by the President and Board of Trustees of said Village on the 28th day of February, A. D.
1934.

Be it ordained by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights, County of Cook and State of Illinois:

Section 1. That the ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights entitled:

"An ordinance to regulate the sale of alcoholic liquors in the Village of Arlington Heights, County of Cook and State of Illinois," passed by the Board of Trustees of said Village on the 28th day of February, A. D. 1934, and approved by the President of said Village on the 28th day of February, A. D. 1934, be and it is hereby amended by adding thereto a section, to be known as "Section 13a", which section is and reads as follows:

"SECTION 13a. PURCHASE
BY MINORS AND CERTAIN
OTHER PERSONS PROHIB-ITED. It shall be unlawful for any minor, intoxicated person, habitual drunkard or spendthrift to purchase alcoholic liquor. It shall further be unlawful for any minor or other person to misrepresent the age of any minor for the purpose of inducing any licensee hereunder to sell or give such minor any alcoholic liquor in violation of this ordinance. Every tavern or every place of business in the Village of Arlington Heights where alcoholic liquor is sold for beverage purposes shall display in a prominent place a card or a sign containing a warning to minors to the effect that they will be subject to the penalties of this ordinance if they purchase, or misrepresent their age in an attempt to purchase alcoholic liquor."

SECTION 2. Any violator of the foregoing section shall subject the violator to the same penalties prescribed in the ordinance hereinabove described.

SECTION 3. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication, as provided by law.

PASSED this 3rd day of February, A. D. 1947.

drainage systems will have to be expanded.

Present size of Arlington airport is 252 acres with natural drainage and in quite adequate for present operations, although the field is soft after a heavy rain. At present the Navy owns 96 acres and leases the rest. Landing surface is an allway 4462' x 3948' which can be extended to the south, east and west.

Administration building now on the field is actually a control tower structure with office space available underneath for administrative functions. Barracks on the field at present could be utilized for ground school class rooms, lounge, offices, etc.

This field can readily be adapted to civilian use, as the existing facilities have been well constructed, and the entire installation should be of considerable value to the future airport needs of the Chicago area.

Other features

Comparisons of other features of local airports follow: Arlington; 12,800 square ft. wide span frame, unheated hangars, concrete floor,
fire equipment, 1st aid equipment, flood lights, marking lights, and could be operated on a 24
hour basis.

Pal-Waukee; 8,000 square feet wide span steel unheated hang-ars 11,864 wide span cement construction unheated hangars with concrete floor, fire and first aid equipment, and marking lights,
24 hour basis.

Sky Harbor; 23,000 square feet wide span cement construction partially heated hangars, concrete floors, fire and first aid equipment, and marking lights, 24 hour basis.

Wood Dale; 4,800 square feet wide span steel unheated concrete floor hangars with an all-way turf with fire and first aid equipment plus marking lights and operated on a day basis.

Cost is important

Probably cost is the all-decisive point in any family owning a plane both initial and operating.
Initial costs runs from $900 for a single trainer to $1400 for a two place personal and $2600 for a four place personal. Operating includes present high training costs (which are due to come down soon, especially if the student will take the two-control plane, and servicing. Airport wages say for every hour in the air a plane must spend 1/2 hour on the ground. That was true with the automobile at one time, too.

Other factors in the decision are safety, which is ever increasing (60% of insurance companies allow up to 7500 miles flying a year), comfort and utility.

An airport must be near the people who can afford to buy and operate planes and on this factor hinges success of the Arlington field. Local authorities state 25 families do own or would own a plane if the local port were in operation. The survey divides Arlington families in economic groups according to rents.

Based on the 1940 census, the survey estimates there will be 31 Arlington Heights families own planes in 1955. These, plus families of surrounding area and other nearby towns would be needed to make the local port a success. An idea of the cost of airports with proper facilities can be gained by comparing the Arlington 1 1/2 million estimated needed expense with the 72 million for developing Douglas until 1970, and the 27 million for remodeling the municipal airport of Chicago.

James J. Ryan, administrator of the estate of his daughter,
Gloria Ryan, deceased, has sued
Charlotte Collins and Charles G.
Nelson in Circuit court for causing his daughter's death. On December 13 it is charged the defendants were operating an automobile on Gross Point road.
The deceased, a child of nine years, was riding her bicycle on the street between Lehigh and Caldwell ave. It is charged she was run down by defendants' car and fatally injured. Damages of $10,000 are asked for her death.

utility companies in 1946. Nine per cent of the 2,407 queries received came from industrialists who sought specific information about natural resources and market data.

For individuals or firms contemplating the establishment of new or branch plants in the ar-made analyses of industrial opportunities for such products as wire, plastics, glass, clothing, chemicals, tools, automotive equipment and textiles.

Extensive studies of labor and transportation costs, income, worker output, industrial and residential construction, retail and wholesale trade and popula-swer to inquiries.

Market data on northern Il-of electrical, agricultural and industrial machinery, ceramics, chemicals, electric appliances,

kitchenware, plastics, radios, razors, welding equipment, textiles and many other items.

Con Man Makes Date With — Detectives

A confidence man, Lothar G. Baas, who swindled a Bensenville ex-serviceman of $300 on the promise of getting him a car, was apprehended in Chicago on Wednesday, January 29.

The serviceman, upon becoming suspicious of the transaction, reported it to the Bensenville police department. He was instructed to make a date to meet the suspect in Chicago. Lt. Murphy of the Chicago confidence detail was notified to arrest and hold the con man.

After waiting forty-five minutes at the meeting place, Baas showed up, and was immediately placed under arrest by the Chicago detectives. He put up a fight, which was more readily explained when it turned out that he is an enemy alien who had been held in a detention camp in North Dakota for the duration of the war.

He will be brought to trial before police magistrate Mears of Bensenville, it is reported.

Don't Shoot Bozo-He's Just A Dog And He Did Not Mean To Run Away

To Whom It May Concern:

I have a dog called Bozo, which I raised from a little puppy. I love him very much. I realize that he is a big dog though only six months old, so I keep him tied up all the time because I don't want him to bother anyone.

But once in a while, because of all the other dogs in the community that run loose, he breaks his chain and away he goes with the rest of them. That's what happened the other day while I was at school and no one was at home to chase after him. But some cold hearted person shot him during his short run.

The rope was still attached to his collar when I brought him home from a good neighbor who took him in and nursed him while I hunted for him unaware of his experience.

I am happy to say that Bozo will get well, but if you go to shoot some one else's dog, remember Bozo didn't mean to run away. Maybe this dog didn't either and some other boy can come home to his dog to play with him, not to nurse him.

Thank you.

RAMBLE INN 'N OUTINGS

BILL NORTH

After each home game the Arlington Cardinal basketball team play, it seems that the whole rooting section, team and visiting students all migrate to Rumble Inn to cuss and discuss the night's play, dance, play ping-pong and generally enjoy the Y. C.'s congenial hospitality.

Of late, the Youth Center has had hot dogs to serve as an after game snack along with the regular menu of Cokes, ice cream and candy.

—Y. C.—

The Youth Center will not be open on February 15th due to "The Lovers Leap" at Arlington High. The Y. C. in cooperating with the High School encourages everyone to be there. Time, 8:30 p. m.

—Y. C.—

The new deposit system for obtaining ping-pong paddles and a ball is working most effectively. The deposit of 25c for two paddles and a ball has cut by three-fourths the number of balls lost and is insuring better paddles and less wear and tear on the tables.

—Y. C.—

Jean Baldwin, well known cheerleader and Arlingtonite deserves "White Orchids" for her fine work on the Y. C. music committee. Jean, almost since Rumble Inn began, has bought the records for the juke box.

—Y. C.—

What's gonna happen on the last Monday of February? Well, if you don't know by this time that that's the date of the second big Rumble Inn roller party, starting at 7:00 p. m. and ending at 11:00 p. m. and that you are supposed to meet in front of the Y. C. where the buses will pick you up, you will never find the answer in this column. Let's see you all there. Remember that date is the 24th of February.

—Y. C.—

There is a great need for members to work on the clean up committee of the Y. C. If you can stay for about 5 or 10 minutes after closing on either Wednesday, Friday or Saturday, please see any of the officers or Mrs. Mills.

—Y. C.—

Mrs. Mills by the way is enjoying a short vacation in Michigan.

—Y. C.—

Friendships are made at the Y. C.

That last and last and last. Friendships that may never be broken.

But will always be strong and fast.

For acquaintances not to be forgot.

You should now begin.

To meet and make the friends you ought.

Invalidating 70 million bond issue won't stop Tri-State road

The Chicago-Detroit Expressway project is in no way affected by last week's invalidation by the Illinois Supreme Court of a 70 million dollar bond issue for superhighway construction in Cook County, approved by voters last June 3. Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, assured in a message to Along the Route Committees of the Chicago-Detroit Expressway, a project jointly sponsored by the Chicago Motor Club and the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Four major construction projects already in progress on the Calumet and Tri-State parkways in Cook County, will continue to proceed without interruption," Mr. Hayes stated. "Cook County Authorities confirm that the County will merely revert to the construction program approved by the Board of Commissioners in November 1945, which allocated available funds to the Calumet and Tri-State Parkways comprising the Illinois section of the Chicago-Detroit Expressway," Mrs. Hayes explained.

County officials expect to re-submit the invalidated bond issue for the approval of Cook County voters at the earliest opportunity, which is the November 4 election of Superior Court judges. Mr. Hayes reported. The Supreme Court held that insufficient notice of only 15 days instead of the required 20 days was given, and that advertising the issue in only one instead of two suburban area papers required by the code gave inadequate notice to voters outside of the jurisdiction of the board of election commissioners.

Christian Science lecture

Mrs. Elizabeth Carroll Scott, C.S.B. of Memphis, Tennessee, a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass., delivered a lecture entitled "Christian Science: The Basis of Enduring Peace", Thursday evening January 30, under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Barrington, in the Barrington High School auditorium.

The lecture spoke in part substantially as follows:

Long ago, Jesus looked out upon the city of Jerusalem, and Luke tells us (19:42) that, as he looked up it, he said, "If thou hadst known, even thou, at least in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace!"

All the world longs for peace and strives for it. Yet it has continually eluded mankind. It is hid from them because they do not know, even today, much more than they did nearly two thousand years ago in Jerusalem the things that belong to peace. The world courts, the League of Nations, and alliances of powerful nations have all worked for peace, but they have never yet succeeded in bringing permanent peace to the world. They have not even stopped actual physical warfare. They can never succeed in replacing the mental turmoil of the individual with the quietude born of the assurance of inner peace.

There can be no surer basis for the establishment of peace than the fact that there is one Mind, and that one is infinite good. The man of God's creating is not mortal, brought here for a little time, only to go into the darkness and obscurity of death. The man of God's creating is immortal. Christian Science shows that the real man is immune to evil. He is at peace because he is at one with God.

One of the great deterrents to peace is fear. In the light of Christian Science, it can be proved that this fear is unnecessary and can be dissipated as erroneous thinking is replaced with trust and confidence in God. A false sense of law is another deterrent to peace. Mortals believe that they are under the so-called laws of sickness, sin, and death. Since all government is based upon the consent of the governed, humanity cannot continue to be governed by false law, unless it consents to be so governed. God does not know or demand penalties. His law is wholly good.

We learn in Christian Science that, when we pray intelligently and understandingly, we gain freedom from troublesome conditions in the peace of answered prayer. We do not pray to change anything that is true or actual. We pray that the scales may be dropped from our eyes and that we may perceive reality in order to become acquainted with the man God made and the universe He created. Healing in Christian Science is a very simple thing.

In it, we are taught to lift our eyes, as Jesus did, above the material need, or the sense testimony of sickness or sin, above the realm where trouble seems to be, and to affirm the truth as God knows it. Thus the kingdom of God is established on earth, and His will is made manifest in answered prayer.

Mary Baker Eddy teaches in her book "Miscellaneous Writings" (45:16) that it is a "deific law that supply invariably meets demand." Mortals have looked for supply everywhere except in the right direction. They have done everything except to look to God for it.

Christ Jesus expressed his God-given dominion, and taught us to do the same. He was at peace because he was engaged in demonstrating the divine facts of being—the allness of God and man's oneness with God. To us who would follow him, he said he would give peace—that peace which is a fruit of the Spirit.

We have the promise from

Christ Jesus of another Comforter. Inasmuch as Christian Science has brought a return of primitive Christian healing, we recognize in this the promised Comforter. Through her search for God, Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, learned to know Him aright. Her work is of tremendous import to each one of us, for if we will study the Christian Science textbook and assimilate and begin to demonstrate the ideas that are found there, it will lead us out of bondage into freedom and peace.

Religion Becomes Demonstrable Science

Imagine if you can one as yet unaware of the present-day uses of electricity, and then imagine his joy in learning of them and of what they could mean to him.

Such a sense of release and enrichment, only better, has come for multitudes as they grasped the meaning of Christian Science. For this Science unmistakably and scientifically reveals power of another sort, which is unlimited in its utility — spiritual power, the power of God, which heals disease, overcomes evils of every sort, and enriches beyond the ordinary standards of enrichment.

Already, in healing and other help received not only by those who had previously believed in such power but by others, there are world-wide proofs of its direct availability under all conditions.

The complete explanation of Christian Science and the scientifically Christian method of utilizing spiritual power is given in the Christian Science textbook.

Bowlers: yes; owners: no
Are Palatine alleys tough?

A recent article about the "toughness" of the L & N bowling alleys based on the number of shiny pennies given by Ed Brockman this year to bowlers getting 200 or better scores as compared to last year was investigated by the management. They report that approximately the same number of 200 games have been rolled this year as in the corresponding period last year. The difference in the amount of pennies given has been due to the bowlers' failure to request them. Mr. Brockman has been unable to watch the games as closely as he did last year, but states that he has a shiny penny ready for anyone showing him a 200 score, be it in league or open play.

MAC SAYS:
•• BY GERALD MCELROY ••

When a school wins 18 straight games and has its all-state center graduate at the end of the semester it is a very fortunate coincidence that the day the star and some of his team mates finished their eligibility a big six foot five sophomore star, from a once defeated team in the same county, moves in to take over at center. It being at the start of the semester he is at once eligible and plays two games the first week for the big school team and scores 17 points. Of course a player is not eligible unless his parents live in the school district where he attends school.

Mertes averaged 12 points a game at Ela. The boy whose parents moved from Lake Zurich to Waukegan at the crucial point in Waukegan's schedule is Bob Mertes who had been averaging 12 points a game for the league leading Ela team in the Northwest Conference. Ela fans and school authorities are not very happy, to say the least, about the loss of one of the best cage prospects ever to play in the league.

They feel bad enough about losing him but the big question in Lake Zurich and the Northwest Conference is how it happened just at the time Waukegan, first ranking team in the state, was losing their six foot five center, by graduation. Lake Zurich fans feel it is more than just a coincidence that Mertes' parents found a place to live in Waukegan making him eligible to play there.

The IHA rules in such cases As far as this column is concerned the whole thing looks rather unusual. We hope every thing was on the square with no influence exerted to see that the Mertes family moved to Waukegan but you cannot blame Lake Zurich folks for being suspicious when it all happened like one of those once in a lifetime stories. Ela's cage strength is given a jolt but Ela's loss is also a loss to the league. We think the people in both towns involved deserve an accurate story of the whole affair. The only agency which can do this is the office of Mr. Albert Willis of the State high school Association. In view of the rumors and suspicions the case has aroused we hope the state office conducts an investigation of the case, and very likely they have or Mertes would not be playing.

Ela still has a big edge for the title The loss of Mertes is still not going to spoil Ela's championship chances though they may lose one more game than had he remained. By virtue of Bensenville's defeat of Barrington the Ela Bears hold a two game lead over Palatine and Barrington tied for second. Ela's next two games are against these two teams and if the Bears win either one they will just about clinch an undisputed championship. They have a third game with Northbrook which should be a cinch in view of the type of ball they played this past weekend.

The only way either Barrington or Palatine can get a share is for both to beat Ela. And that

Kocher leads NW scoring

Walter Kocher, dead eye Barrington guard, is setting a fast scoring pace in the Northwest Conference with 145 points in the first 10 games of a 14 game Kolze. Bob Thollander of Bensenville, who recently set a new single game mark of 33 points, is in second position with 141 points but has played one more game than the leader. Dan Jones of Antioch and Orville Grever of Ela hold down the third and fourth spots with Kolze, Palatine's smooth playing center, in fifth position. Jones and Kolze also have four more games to play in contrast to the three remaining for Grever and Thollander. Kocher leads in field goals with 60. Kolze has the most free throws with 36.

Ela and Bensenville each have three men among the 10 leading scorers. The Bisons have Thollander, Vulgar and Borg while Ela has Grever, Mertes and Seeman. Mertes, however, has moved away and will not help see Ela through to the championship which they seem so certain to win.

Officials note

Report shows night football, large gyms necessary for self supporting athletics

The idea of making sports self supporting in local high schools has always been desirable, but never realized in many schools. In the small school, until the last five years, basketball has usually been required to pay the entire "freight" for all sports, football, tennis, track, cross country, and any other sports local facilities could provide.

The sports department of this paper has long felt night football at the small school would boost fall receipts and make athletics more self-sustaining, perhaps showing a profit for the year for all sports.

This week a complete report of athletic receipts and expenses at Waukegan high school has been released, and is reprinted here in part to show what can be done in this regard with lights on the gridiron, plus a gymnasium big enough to seat the fans.

Figures presented herewith could just as well be divided by three or five for any of the local high schools, and present a fairly accurate estimate of what

Antioch rallies to beat Wauconda

Antioch and Wauconda split last Friday's double bill. Antioch took the varsity contest 41-32 while Wauconda frosh-soph won handily 48-32.

The Wauconda varsity led throughout the first half and was on top 20-15 at the rest period. Paced by Fields who hit six baskets from out on the court Antioch rallied to win the game after picking up a 28-23 lead in the third period. Fields scored 14 and Jones 13 for Antioch. Mathews had 11, Frear 10 and Reardon eight for Wauconda.

Playing their best ball of the season the Wauconda frosh-soph smothered Antioch 48-32 with a 25-10 lead at the half. Fink scored 17, Cook 13 and Stotanus nine for Wauconda. Radke scored 12 and Johnson seven for Antioch.

Capacity crowd
Card defense holds Wildcats to six baskets in 49-21 win

The Arlington Heights Varsity Basketball Team clipped the Libertyville Wildcats 49-21 last Friday night, on the local court in a Northeast conference game before a capacity crowd of over 1,000. The main factor of the game was Arlington's defense which held the Wildcats to 5 field goals in the first half and to only 1 in the second half, the Cardinals getting 19 baskets. The Arlington boys played for the first time in their new uniforms.

Heights started the game off nicely with Captain Tiny Magnus hitting for a field goal in the first few seconds of play on Arlington's first shot. From there they kept scoring until at the end of the first period with every Cardinal regular scoring at least 2 points. Arlington jumped out into the lead 15-3. All of Libertyville's points were free throws, of which 2 were by Bornell.

Libertyville's next quarter was the best period of the game for the Wildcats, in fact, they totaled more points in this quarter than the other 3 added together. Bornell and Nemmers led the Wildcats in this period with 4 points apiece for 8 of Libertyville's 11 points. Arlington scored 19 points in this quarter. Allan Stroker led Arlington in this period with 3 points while Bill Robinson, Lennie Garmis and Magnus each had 2 and iBl Kleiner 1. At half time the score stood 25-14 in Arlington's favor.

The Cardinals' defense really tightened up in the third quarter as it limited the Wildcats to 1 basket and a free throw, whereas Arlington led by Allan Stroker's 7 points, scored 12. This made the score going into the final period 37-17.

The Cards duplicated their scoring in the fourth quarter with that of the third period as it again ran up 12 points. Libertyville, however, was held to but 4 free throws in this period and the game ended with Arlington on the top end of a 49-21 score.

Stroker, Arlington's hard rebounding center, took high scoring honors for the night with 16 points.

Jay-vees rocket out of conference slump

The Arlington Jay-Vees finally found their shooting eye last Friday night when they shot out of their slump by beating the second place Libertyville Junior Varsity 39-26. In the opening game of the night, after losing three straight conference victories, the Cards came into the game determined and played their best brand of ball that they have played for a long time. This was their Coach H. W. Grace's 500th time of sitting on the side lines as a Basketball coach and it was a happy one at that, for it gave him victory no. 365.

Leyden turns in best of year to beat Lake Forest

It was a big night in basketball for Leyden high in Franklin Park last Friday. The Eagles upset third place Lake Forest 51-48 with their best exhibition of the year. The league leading Leyden junior varsity notched their eighth victory against one defeat by winning 36-23.

Spera, Guetzloff and Huffman really had the basket range in Leyden's small gym and Leyden led at every quarter interval in a well played game. Spera had 15, Huffman 14, and Guetzloff 10 points for the Eagles. Bob Burns collected 18 and Bob Price 14 for Lake Forest.

Both teams were weak on free throws. Lake Forest missed 14 charity tosses as Leyden's 24 personal fouls eliminated three regulars including their top scorers. The score was 42-39 going into the last quarter and Leyden matched their rivals point for point through the final eight minutes.

Graber scored 12 points to set the pace for the Leyden Eagles who appear to be on their way to the championship. Ott and Rerucha each had four field goals while Phillips scored six points. Schierhorn at center completed the starting five and tallied one basket. Everett topped Lake Forest with four field goals. Leyden led only 14-12 at half time but had things very much their own way after the intermission.

Score by quarters:

Leyden (51)	13	24	42	51
Lake Forest (48)	12	19	39	48

March of Dimes to benefit from game at Northbrook

Northbrook high school basketball five will tangle with the alumni squad next week, Saturday, February 15, in the preliminary tilt of a double-header with the local March of Dimes to benefit. The high school team will have concluded its regularly scheduled conference games the night before, and will be keeping in shape for the district tournament at Wauconda the following week.

In the main event of the evening the LaLonde Realtor semipro five of Palatine will oppose the Northbrook American Legion squad. The Palatine aggregation has a fine record of victories behind them, including a 13 game winning streak, and should provide tough opposition for the host team.

Arlington man writes for sports magazine

Chicago area fans should find the current February issue of "Basketball Magazine", a new monthly publication, especially interesting. In this issue is an article entitled, "Meet Tony Maffia — Chicago's Miracle Coach," by Tommy Kouzmannoff. Maffia is coach at South Shore High School.

Kouzmannoff, a resident of Arlington Heights and a member of the Herald-American sports staff, recently was awarded a prize by his newspaper for "the best story of the week." The story concerned the Hearst All-American high school football team.

Paddock Printers lose match game

Paddock Printers match game bowling squad lost a heartbreaking Sunday afternoon to the Pontiac Chiefs of DuPage county, after holding a 77 pin lead going into the final game. DuPage boys backed into the lead by virtue of the low scores of the Paddock five the last game.

Scores: Printers, R. Paddock 462, C. Hunt 400, S. Paddock 427, F. Stites 515, A. Duenn 470, 779, 785, 704, DuPage, Heine 466, Lamos 472, Rosenquist 461, Siems 472, Kelly 444, 747, 740, 826.

Bisons vs. Pirates contest tops lineup; Cards to play 4 games

The heaviest eight days of basketball in the schedule of the two local conferences opens this Friday night when all three local squads play three games in that period. Palatine has the toughest lineup of contests of the group, traveling to Antioch Friday night, playing host to Ela Tuesday, and moving to Bensenville next week Friday, February 14. These games represent an outside hope the Pirates have of tying the Ela Bears for the championship, an almost insurmountable goal.

The Pirates would have to first trounce Antioch, whom they nosed out 32-31 in a December game. In that tilt Antioch grabbed a sizable seven point lead the first quarter, saw it whittled to three at the half, and fell behind by seven at the three-quarter mark.

Then Tuesday night Coach Stutzman's boys have to tackle Ela. The Bears are now playing without Mertes, six-five sophomore "transfer" to Waukegan, but still rate an odds-on choice to cop the conference. Palatine dealt them their first defeat in conference play in two years the early part of January 29-31.

Next week, Friday, February 14, the Pirates move on to DuPage county to seek revenge against Coach Meneguini's up and coming Bison five, perhaps the toughest nut of the three to crack. All three victories, plus an Ela loss to Barrington Friday night, would give the locals a chance at the title.

Bensenville should cop two games, maybe three

Experts are conceding the Bensenville Bisons two wins in the next eight days of competition, with the locals slated to walk over grant on the home court Friday, and edge the hot and cold Wauconda squad Tuesday on the latter's floor. Then the following week end Palatine comes to town with the Bisons rating a slight favorite because of continued improved play. Lack of reserves, however, always has handicapped the Bison squad and a hard fought game may be to the southerners' detriment.

Coach Meneguini's team will conclude their schedule with these games, and await the York regional the first of March. The varsity is in fifth place and has a good chance of moving into the first division.

Bensenville fans are paying a lot of attention to the frosh-sophs this year, who thus far are heading the conference slate. The youngsters have shown plenty of staying power and are a half game ahead of Barrington in the junior division. The Ponies have four games remaining and may catch up to the DuPage boys.

Arlington plays 4 games in 10 days

Arlington's Cardinals have a schedule calling for four tilts in eight days, with two conference "buildups" putting the Cards up against league leading Crystal Lake February 14. Coach Clarence Iba's boys tackle Leyden at Franklin Park Friday night, take on Belvidere in an extra game at the Heights gym Saturday and again play host Tuesday when Warren comes to town.

The locals should beat Leyden win handily from Warren, and will have their supreme test of gaining a tie for the conference trophy against the Lakers next week, Friday, at the McHenry county school. In a previous meeting the Tigers beat the Cards with a sensational 18 point third period rally to win, 39-38.

The Belvidere game is an unknown quantity but the locals will be out to gain another win for Arlington fans.

Coach Grace's jayvees, now holding down center position in the conference, are slated to lose Friday night (they succumbed 46-24 previously to the leaders), should win easily Tuesday and have a tossup next week.

7-3 record
Card frosh lose to Leyden, but win, too

Arlington's freshman basketball squad gained an even split the last week end, losing to Leyden, 32-18, and trimming Libertyville, 28-17. Both games were almost identical in scores at all the quarters with only Arlington and their opponents in reverse each time.

Arlington grabbed a 7-4 lead in the tilt at Leyden Friday, but fell one basket behind at halftime, 14-12. With Gorkdon Busse leading the way with 12 markers, Arlington stayed close the third period, 21-17, but the Eagle yearlings ran away with the game in the final segment.

Center Lofgren tallied 13 for the winners.

Beat Libertyville

Monday afternoon the Libertyville frosh came to town seeking revenge for a previous one point defeat at the hands of Arlington, but returned to Lake county after gaining an early lead, then losing it, 28-17.

Arlington fell behind 8-5 the opener, but gained a 10-all tie at the rest mark. The Card juniors pulled away the third period, 19-16, and out scored their opponents the final frame, 9-1.

Again Gordon Busse led Coach Grace's charges with 12 scores, with center Schuetz showing the way with three baskets for the Wildkittens. Arlington has a 7-3 record to date.

The local frosh have no game this week, but resume their schedule Monday with a double-header at Warren. Then next week, Thursday, Leyden comes to the Heights for a return game.

Niles wins cage game at Woodstock, 45-36

Woodstock Community High school divided a Northeast conference basketball doubleheader on its home floor with Niles Friday.

Blue Streaks lost the varsity game, 45 to 36, after the home team had won the preliminary tilt, 41 to 19. Jim Olson paced Woodstock varsity with 13 points and Bob Fisher led the Niles attack with nine points.

Arlington opens up early to maul Woodstock, 50-30

by Marvin Prellberg

The Arlington high school varsity cage team displayed plenty of scoring punch last Saturday night, as they rolled over the Woodstock quintet 50-30 in its own gymnasium in a Northeast conference game before a limited crowd. This was the second meeting of the teams this year. On January 17th the Cards traveled to Woodstock where they mauled the Blue Streaks 51-29.

This win over Woodstock chalked up Arlington's seventh in eight starts in the Northeast Conference and this week Friday, February 7, they hope to capture victory number 8 in the conference when the Cards travel to Leyden. On the following day, Saturday, February 8, Belvidere comes to Arlington to take on the Cards in a non-conference game.

The contest was a one-sided affair throughout its 32 minutes with Arlington being outscored in the second quarter only. The first quarter was definitely in Arlington's favor as it tallied 19 points to the Blue Streaks' 4. Sophomore guard Bill Robinson led the Cards in this attack with 6 points while Allan Stroker had 5 and Vic Heinsoth and Bill Kleiner 4 each.

The Cardinals were slowed down considerably in the second period as they were limited to but 2 field goals while Dodge poured in 6 points to spark Woodstock which tallied 10 points. The score at half time was 23-14 in Arlington's favor.

Arlington found it's scoring punch in the third period, as the Cards, led by big Al Stroker's 8 points, amassed 15 points, whereas the Blue Streaks connected for only 8 and the score was 38 to 22 at the end of the quarter.

With five men scoring for Arlington in the final quarter they once again outscored Woodstock, this time by 4 points, 12-8, to make the final score 50-30 with Arlington the victor. Allan Stroker was high scorer of the game with 17 points. He was followed by Dodge of Woodstock who had the basket, of 50 shots attempted.

Frosh-sophs take first

In the preliminary "feature" game of the evening, the Bensenville frosh-sophs assumed first place in conference standings by handing the Ponies a closely fought, though never in doubt, 19-14 decision. It was a game of defenses for both squads as both fives held their opponents to few shots.

Barrington took a one point, 8-7 first period lead, but surrendered it with one point against a seven tally drive by the Bison yearlings in the second period. There was just a bucket apiece the third quarter and three scores for each the final.

Again the Bisons used just five men, with all of them participating in the scoring. Keller was high with six points. Hansen led the losers, who dropped to second place in the standings, but can still tie for first, with four tallies.

Libertyville vets to test Wisconsin champs in special tilt Feb. 8

A fancy exhibition of cage sniping, something which northern Illinois basketball enthusiasts may long remember, promises to take place Saturday evening, February 8, when the New Holstein cagers, Wisconsin state champions, invade the Libertyville high school caging citadel, to contest the Libertyville cagers, who themselves hold a title, that of Lake County.

Having averaged close to 60 points a game since the first of the year, Libertyville's American Legion basketball team will be playing their toughest opponent of the campaign. With a recent 56-47 triumph over the Great Lakes Blue Jackets, the Vets have shown a courage that has seldom been exhibited by a Libertyville quintet.

Libertyville's spacious high school court will probably be jam-packed for this battle of champions. A preliminary contest featuring the Lake Forest YMC quintet and a scrappy Lake Zurich club will get underway at 7:30, and the main fracas will commence at 8:30.

Yearlings grab first

After slow start Bensenville outscore Barrington, 50-37

Bensenville's Bisons spotted the Barrington Bronchos three points Friday night in the first quarter of the Northwest conference tilt, but proceeded to gain it back the second period and go on to win easily, 50-37, in the second half. This defeat for the Cook county boys dropped them to two games behind Ela, and into a tie with Palatine for second spot in the standings.

Barrington hit consistently from the field the first quarter to notch five baskets, three by league scorer Kocher, to grab a 10-7 lead. The Bisons gaining three charities in their total Kocher continued his winning ways the second period, gaining three more buckets, plus a free throw, to raise his point total to 13, though the Bisons warmed up to a 20-20 tie at half-time.

Coach Meneguini's boys hit consistently the third segment, outscoring the visitors, 15-10, and continued their pace the final segment for the 50-37 victory.

Bensenville scoring was evenly divided among the five regulars, with Thollander just ahead of the rest by virtue of six free tosses and 14 points. Every Bison scored at least one basket per quarter except Borg, who missed in the second, and Robertson, who missed in the first and third.

Brunt of Barrington's scores were made by Kocher who swished the hoops for eight baskets and 19 points. Again in this game the Bisons proved getting close-in shots pays off as they made 17 of their 18 buckets from within "circle distance" of the basket, of 50 shots attempted.

In the preliminary "feature" game of the evening, the Bensenville frosh-sophs assumed first place in conference standings by handing the Ponies a closely fought, though never in doubt, 19-14 decision. It was a game of defenses for both squads as both fives held their opponents to few shots.

cage record. Arlington has had over 100 fewer points scored on them than their nearest rival in the conference and the Cardinals have lost only to the league leading Crystal Lake five and by one point.

Libertyville is the only other team besides Arlington which has not had at least an average of 40 points scored on it by opponents. Arlington's opponents have averaged 31 points to Arlington's 44. Crystal Lake is the offensive leader with a 60 point average to opponents' 40. Coach Clarence Iba of Arlington has the same ideas concerning the importance of basketball defense as his famous brother Henry Iba who coaches Oklahoma A. and M., annually the best defensive club in the nation.

Ela leads both defense and offense

In the Northwest Conference Ela has averaged 43.5 on offense and 33 on defense. Bensenville has a 42 average and Palatine 41 on offense but Palatine is second in defense with 31.6. Leading scorers in the Northwest conference are listed elsewhere in this issue.

Barnstable at Kentucky Bizer at Elmhurst

Dale Barnstable, great Antioch athlete of 1942-43 is on the basketball traveling squad of the University of Kentucky, rated the best outfit in the nation. He played against Notre Dame Saturday as his team won 60-30. Barnstable in addition to being a good basketball man and a straight "A" student was named all state end in his senior year at Antioch where he set a league record with 70 points in five games.

Waldemar Bizer who last year was the top scorer of the Northwest conference has been playing regularly at center on the starting five at Elmhurst College and also is one of the best point getters as a freshman. Ermsing of Bensenville another high Northwest scorer of last year, is playing quite a lot at Lake Forest.

Palatine girls win

Realtors beat Northbrook, Lake Forest, Bensenville for 13 in row

Friday, January 24, the LaLonde Realtors of Palatine, swinging back into action and chalked up their 11th consecutive win by narrowly defeating the American Legion team of Northbrook 56-54 after the Walther League girls had soundly trounced the girls' team from Des Plaines 38-23 in the preliminary contest.

The Realtors, playing without the services of their star center, Dick Hildebrandt, lacked the defensive rebounding ability and Northbrook took full advantage of the situation, although they never gained the lead.

Bob Hollinger took the offensive burden along with Millay in the first quarter and sent Palatine into a 17-12 lead in the first quarter while Stinson was acquiring four personal fouls in the first six minutes of play and had to be removed. The second quarter saw the Realtors extend their lead to a 36-24 margin with Bob Howes and Snyder leading the attack.

In the third quarter the Northbrook attack got under way with Wilson and Santucci leading the way, while the Palatine offense bogged, and managed to cut the Palatine lead to a 44-40 margin.

The fourth quarter saw the Northbrook girls sneak a little closer however, Hollinger, Millay and Snyder sent 12 points through the nets to thwart any further threat by the boys from the east.

In the preliminary contest the Walther League girls displayed a terrific offensive attack when they throttled the Des Plaines girls 38-23 in four six minute quarters.

Elaine Schwolow, diminutive forward for the Walther League girls, led the attack with 8 buckets and 1 free throw for 17 points while cousin Vernetta played a perfect defensive game.

Beat Bensenville
The Realtors and the Walther League girls of Palatine played host to the Bensenville VFW and the Methodist girls of Palatine Tuesday of last week, but failed to extend too much hospitality as all of the hosts won. The Walther League girls, after a terrific tussle, managed to eke out a 17-11 victory over the Methodist girls in the first contest. The two LaLonde teams then smashed out two decisive victories over the two Bensenville teams, the juniors winning 47-21 while the regulars, playing at full strength for the first time in a month, fashioned themselves a 65-35 win in the nightcap.

The Realtors set a torrid pace in the first quarter with Hollinger, Stinson and Hildebrandt pouring 28 points through the net in the first quarter to assume a 28-9 lead. The ex-pirates then slowed down in the second and third quarter, leading at the half 36-12 and 50-29 at the conclusion of the third segment. The last quarter saw Stinson, Hollinger and Millay scoring 15 points while Bensenville pushed through 3 buckets for the final tally.

The Realtor reserves had little difficulty handling the Bensenville reserves as they won handily 47-21. Ray Howes hit the bucket seven times in the first half to give Palatine a 22-13 lead at the half time. In the second half "Cider" Bill Vogt came to life and burned up the nets by sending the ball through 9 times.

In the preliminary contest the Walther League girls and the girls from the Methodist church tangled in an effort to determine supremacy of the community and the girls from the Lutheran church came through with a hard fought 17-11 win. The score remained close until the last three minutes when Dolores Kintzinger put the game on ice for the Walther League girls with a couple of buckets. Dolores led the scoring with 11 points while V. Landen led the Methodist offensive with eight tallies.

LaLonde Realtors 52
Lake Forest 42
Thursday the LaLonde Realtors traveled to Lake Forest and got over the jinx hurdle by annexing their thirteenth consecutive win by defeating the team representing that community 52-42.

The Realtors got off to a hot start with Bob Howes hitting four consecutive hook shots and piled up a 17-2 advantage at the end of the first segment. After this the Realtors cooled off, both offensively and defensively and Lake Forest began to hit the bucket consistently in the third quarter to pull up at the short end of a 35-24 count at the end of this period. However, Ray Howes and Dick Hildebrandt pushed through 16 points between them in the fourth period and ended any threat Lake Forest presented. Bob Howes led both teams in scoring with 16 points on 8 buckets.

Friday, February 7, the LaLonde Realtors take on Marengo in two contests at the Palatine high school gym. Tipoff time will be at 7:30 p. m.

Seafaring Nation
Behind the story of Norway's seagoing bent lie the influencing factors of geography. With an area only a little larger than that of New Mexico, this country has a jagged, fjord-cut coastline of more than 12,000 miles. Most of its people live on or near the coast. A northern climate discourages large-scale farming. Norway's seafaring warriors and explorers have made history from the time of the Vikings. The development and expansion of the merchant marine, however, came only after the 18th century.

New Libertyville well looks good

The Village of Libertyville last week received a report from the state water survey division on a survey of the new well on Apple Avenue extended.

It was suggested that the village maintain a nearby test well for a brief period to determine amount and cause of water level fluctuations.

The state report shows the 12 inch pipe is 173 ft. below ground level. With pumping level at that point the well will produce about 700 gallons per minute. To maintain the most economical service it was suggested that the pumping rate be maintained at 350 gallons per minute.

Samples of the water were sent to Springfield for analysis. However, samples from a test well indicated that the new well will produce a high quality of water and the supply will meet the village needs for years. The Village board at its next meeting will probably arrange for installation of a pump and erecting a pump house so that the well can be in use in a short time.

Detroit police nab third member of Des Plaines burglary gang

Based on information given to them by Captain Howard Becker, Detroit police arrested Louis Gudenau, ring-leader of the gang which recently carried out a series of burglaries in Des Plaines. The arrest was made last Wednesday in a tavern in Detroit. On Thursday afternoon the captain and officer Geo. Hachmeister left for that city to bring back the prisoner, for appearance before our local judge the following Monday.

Gudenau, who made his home with Howard Heine, 1017 Center street, fled the city when tipped off that the police were after him, and returned to his mother's home, 5779 Rohms street in Detroit.

Court decision in quo warranto case favors Barrington school

Barrington High School District No. 224, organized last May, has won its quo warranto case before the Illinois Supreme Court. Represented by Attorney David Maloney, the high school district was adjudged by the high court as having met all of the provisions of the school law relating to the establishment of a community high school district. Also, the court held that "the members of the board of education were properly selected and duly authorized to exercise the powers and functions of a board of education." The plaintiff in the case was the state's attorney of Cook county, William J. Touhy.

Consider 8 school consolidations in Lake county

Public sentiment on a proposal to consolidate eight public school districts in vicinity of Libertyville is being sought by the respective boards of education. Before this could be done a referendum will have to be held.

The districts are: Mundelein, Diamond Lake, Gilmer, Murray, Maple Grove, Swan, Fremont Center and Ivanhoe. If the plan is approved this will be one of the largest consolidated school districts in Lake county.

Illinois supreme court decision upholds Skokie

Decision was rendered by the Supreme Court of the State of Illinois last week in favor of the village of Skokie, in the village of Skokie vs. Percy Harms case.

Harms had requested that the hearing of all police cases be turned over to him, as police magistrate. The ordinance upon which he based his case was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court.

Glenview students are subjects for magazine cover

A painting of a classroom in a school near Glenview, showing the teacher and several of her pupils, is used as the cover of the February issue of the magazine, Country Gentleman. Artist William C. Griffith, of 1216 Elm street, painted the picture.

The scene shows a youngster reciting to the class, clutching his notes behind him in one hand and holding onto a trouser leg with the other hand. In a letter to the art editor of the magazine, artist Griffith said:

"All of the kids in the picture are neighbors of mine. That is one commodity that we seem to have an unending supply of here in Glenview. No bottlenecks in that department."

"The speaker in the picture is a combination of 'Sandy' Schutt and 'Pug' Finlay, employing the most attractive features of each, namely, Pug's head and Sandy's posture. The little guy with the modified crew hair cut in the left front seat is 'Pepper' Lowrey. The little girl in yellow is Ann Ford, who assures me that she has many restful positions like the one shown that she uses in waiting for the dismissal bell. The little girl in green directly behind her is Ann Burke who lives just up the street. I can't recall the little guy in the back seat—all I remember is that he was the only one who moved when we were taking a photograph of the group."

Special scout show at Des Plaines

Cubs, Scouts and Senior Scouts of the Northwest Suburban Council are putting final touches on the material which they will display in the "Scouting on Parade" show Thursday and Friday, February 7 and 8. Every unit is striving to put on the best possible show, for each booth is to be judged by a committee of Scout Executives from the Chicago Suburban area, and awards will be made to the booths they select. Selection will be on the basis of material displayed and, Cub or Scout activity in the booth.

A special feature of the show will be stills and movies of the camp site recently purchased by the Northwest Suburban Council. These pictures will be shown in the "Little Theatre", which will be in the east room of the Field House.

Table tax levy vote for spring election in Park Ridge

The issue of whether the tax raise ordinance should be voted on by the people at a special or regular election was stated last week at a special meeting of the Park Ridge City Council. Mayor Alfred P. Haake returned the proposed ordinance to the council last week without signing it, not because he opposed the tax increase but because the measure called for voting on the issue at a special election.

Tuesday night the council reinstated the proposal though the word "special" was deleted. However, in the four roll call votes which followed, the aldermen could not decide the special-regular election question.

Highland Park to vote $200,000 bond for recreation center

On Feb. 25, Highland Park residents will be asked to go to the polls to vote on a $200,000 bond issue to cover the purchase of additional land and the construction of a new recreation center building for their city. How they vote will decide whether or not Highland Park will have a new, well equipped community center, or if it will have to get along with its present inadequate, remodelled facilities.

At West Point

Cadet Lyle E. Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Walter of Palatine, has been selected as Press Representative of his company for the spring period. This Cadet Press Representative organization is the newest of the many extra-curricular activities at West Point.

Working hand in hand with the Public Relations Office, it has the mission of preparing short news items for papers throughout the country, telling of the activities of hometown men now serving in the Corps of Cadets. The organization offers, to a great extent, a chance for cadets to learn something about the work of a Public Relations Officer so when they are called on, as officers, to handle such a job they may be better qualified to carry out their work. In addition, an insight on journalism and newspaper procedure adds to the cadet's all-round development and general knowledge.

Walter, a Second Classman or Junior, is also a member of the Cadet Glee Club and Choir, and is, at present, working on the annual "100th Night Show" stage production. After graduating from Palatine High School, he attended Central YMCA College in Chicago for a year, after which he served a year as an enlisted man in the army prior to his entrance into West Point.

DISSOLVE

Frank Carey has sued Vincent Marzano in the Superior court to dissolve their partnership to sell food and meals at Bunker Hill Golf Club, Niles, last year. He was to operate the kitchen and Marzano was to procure the supplies and manage the business. They were to divide the profits. It is alleged they made large profits but Carey says he did not get his share. It is charged there has not been any accounting made by defendant. Carey asks for an accounting and for his share of the profits.

Gratified Ambition.

N. U. art exhibit

A collection of 53 photographs representing new trends in American photography will be exhibited by the Art department of Northwestern University, beginning Monday, Feb. 10, in Scott Hall on the Evanston campus.

The exhibit, containing works by 16 young photographers from many parts of the country, is the sixth of a series circulated among universities and museums by the New York Museum of Modern Art.

Ranging from documentary studies of life in action to abstract studies in the manipulation of light, shade and texture, the exhibit is designed to reveal the extraordinary range of interpretation possible in modern photography.

Newly Re-styled Chevrolet Announced

Re-styled for the new year, with emphasis on a more massive front end and a smoother sweep to body contours, the new Chevrolet will soon make its debut. New front-end grille and complementing bright work, as well as elimination of the body belt molding, have done much to give the new model an air of greater luxuriousness.

Openings for 1,500 more students at Galesburg

One of the few colleges and universities able to admit new students for the second semester, the University of Illinois Undergraduate Division at Galesburg will have study and living quarters available for 1,500 additional students for the second semester beginning March 3.

Frederic R. Hamilton, Galesburg Dean, announced that registration of new students will be held from February 25 to 28—the late enrollment date giving mid-term high school graduates and recent discharges from military service ample time to enroll.

"The Galesburg Division is one of the few educational institutions in the nation not troubled by any form of housing shortage," Dean Hamilton said.

"Remodeled, modern classrooms and renovated housing units with lounges and study halls makes the University Division here the top spot in the country still available to men and women desiring college instruction."

Twenty-five apartments, with three and four rooms and bath in each, being readied for married veterans will be completed in time for registration. In addition the University will have available the extraordinary number of more than 300 private rooms and approximately 1,200 accommodations of various types.

Tell changes of new Chevy

With virtually no interruption of production for the changeover, Chevrolet has introduced its new line of passenger cars, comprising 11 models in three series, all smartly styled in the modern mode.

The three series are the specially styled Fleetline, the deluxe Fleetmaster, and the economy-range Stylemaster. All show marked advances over previous models in exterior styling and trim, and in interior finish and fittings.

The most striking appearance feature of the new models is the result of the advanced treatment of the front end, especially of the fenders and hood, which gain sweepingly smooth overall contours through the omission of side hood moldings. Fenders and hood blend both in form and in color, to effect a clean-cut simplicity and an appearance of solidity, which is heightened by the elimination of hood louvers.

Frontal appearance is altered greatly, featuring an entirely new, more striking design of radiator grille, chiefly notable for the massiveness of its horizontal bar members, which extend beyond the grille opening to span the front-end sheet metal. Widely separated, larger parking lamps, of rectangular form, are mounted between the lower bars of the grille.

Newly designed decorative features are the chromium-plated die cast name plates near the read edge of the hood, a die-cast front-end emblem plate just above the grille, and a speed-line ornamental hood ornament at the front of the top center molding.

Body interior changes include new ultra-modern instrument panels, new ornamental treatments of the door upholstery panels and scuff pads, new colors in garnish moldings, new steering wheel and horn button caps, and new friction-type adjustable sunshades.

The valve-in-head type engine that has powered millions of Chevrolets is continued without basic change. Its pistons now are fitted with new wide-slot oil control rings, more effective in preventing carbon deposits from building up and blocking the drain holes in the ring groove. Another advantage is that these rings quickly wear in to a proper fit in the cylinders, thus effecting better oil control during the breaking-in period.

860 adults enrolled for evening classes at Maine — A record

Interest in adult education is on the increase, at least in Maine township. This trend is indicated by enrollment figures released Monday by the Adult Evening School office at Maine. 309 are enrolled for Monday night classes and 551 for Thursday classes. 860 is an all-time record for the Adult Evening school. 114 of the registrants are from Arlington Heights and Prospect Heights.

Enrollment in some classes has been so heavy that additional classes have been organized for Monday and Thursday nights in golf, landscaping, machine shop practice, millinery, public speaking, sewing and dressmaking, Spanish, swimming for women and wood shop.

Bridge largest class
The largest single class is the Thursday night contract bridge class. This is closely followed by classes in swimming for women, ballroom dancing, interior decorating, photography, salesmanship, beginning Spanish and typing.

Additional registrations will be accepted until February 10 for the ten-week term, according to E. J. Anderson, director.

Producers to demand $2.50 cut for milk deliveries in city

Over million dollars for county roads

Cook county will have $1,091,090 to spend on good roads and bridges during 1917. The county finance committee, at a budget meeting last week, approved an additional appropriation of $183,000 for roads and bridges, bringing up the total amount to be spent by the county for roads by that amount.

In addition to the $480,000 for salaries of the 40 circuit and supreme court judges, the finance committee approved an additional appropriation of $23,560 for salaries of extra judges to be brought in from the counties downstate for service at $10 a day in the circuit, superior, probate and county courts.

JUST AROUND the CORNER

Dear Jane:

In years to come, I'm sure, we shall refer to January 1947 as the winter of the "big storm".

Can't you see us sitting with a grandchild on each knee, me, gesturing and elaborating, and Rob, quietly and honestly, telling the children what it was like to be marooned on a farm in a heavy snow?

Our neighbors tell us we are experiencing the worst storm in these parts in fourteen years. Actually, this being the second day of our incarceration, the wind and snow have ebated leaving our world bathed in radiant sun, shine and exquisite beauty. But, perhaps, you might like to know what we went through before reaching this fine conclusion.

It began Tuesday during the night. A strong north-east wind started up carrying rain, then sleet and snow that increased in volume by the hour, so that by noon on Wednesday, I knew it would be foolhardy to attempt a drive into town for the children at school. (We had made it to train and school in the morning by sheer luck.) At two o'clock I began a series of telephone calls to the high school and the grade school, followed later by calls to the library and train station.

The Milk Producers Association is planning another drive on the distributors in Chicago which is likely to send the price of milk skyward. Announcement that the milk producers of the Chicago district will refuse to furnish milk to distributors at present prices was made Tuesday when 1,000 members of the organization met for annual convention at the Hotel LaSalle.

The producers will demand $2 for a hundred pounds or 48 quarts for milk delivered to Chicago distributors in the country and about $2.50 for milk delivered to distributors in Chicago.

They will demand these new increases despite the advances in new contracts signed with the distributors last fall. The present contract with the distributors expires April 1 and not a quart of milk will be delivered in Chicago after that date at the present prices, according to C. H. Potter, chairman of the milk board.

M. J. Metzger, general manager of the Bowman Company, said Wednesday "The producers are entitled to more money and will probably get it from the big Chicago distributors. The producers are entitled to more money because feed has gone up so high as to make the profit of the dairyman almost nothing."

He added that he favored a six months contract on April 1 so that subsequent reduction of feed prices might result in lower prices for milk to consumers.

Prompt work by firemen pays off

Monday night a fire that threatened to be very dangerous started from some unknown cause in Carl Pooch's straw stack, Wheeling. Prompt work, however, by the fire department, assisted by H. G. Gemmill, who hauled the fire engine to the fire, soon got the fire under control before much damage was done.

Shermerville asks railroad for gates

The most important action of the Shermerville village board at its regular session Monday night related to the unsatisfactory conduct of the C. M. & St. P. Ry. in not providing crossing gates nor lights in the station as well as heat or cleanliness. Trustee Werhane reported efforts so far had been in vain for remedy and the supt. had stated a flagman was safer than gates. He was ready to pass any kind of an ordinance to the limit of the village's authority to make the railway take notice but failed enough support to put over more than another 30 day resolution in which Attorney Preschren is again to take the matter up.

Something is to happen after that, perhaps in the way of passing an ordinance limiting speed of trains according to state laws. The village of Deerfield did the same thing prior to getting any service from the railroad. Since then they got a subway besides other necessary facilities.

Coal famine in Arlington Heights

Very few people in Arlington Heights realize that a coal famine has struck the town. The Arlington Elevator and Coal Co. and the Tibbitts-Cameron Lumber Co. have practically no coal at all. Both firms are bending every effort to get coal, but the coal companies promise no definite date of shipment.

Attention Farmers

Most of the farmers think that leather goods and harnesses are very high in price. I will admit that there has been a sharp advance in leather, but no more than in any other commodity.

The harness we sold last year for $50 we sell this year for $55. The bushel of corn you sold last year for 60 cents this year brings $1.00.

How about that set of harness that needs oiling

Tales of the STREET

BY I. C. HART

ALMOST

Bunny Rich, anchor man of the LaLonde bowling team, almost reached the local bowlers' hall of fame recently when he rolled a 246 score and just missed making the coveted 250 club by four pins. His sweeping curve ball was smashing in with deadly effect and sprawling the pins all over the place.

Bunny has been shooting an improved game of late and if he keeps up the good work the boys will have to be paying him off in that 250 club before the season is over.

THEY WERE RIGHT

The old timers who were suspicious of our balmy January weather and said that it was a weather breeder were surely right. That spring-like weather bred up a great brew of weather sure enough and along came the worst storm in many years with a mixture of about everything in the book.

Some folks might have thought that balmy January was really a sign of spring, but the wise old timers who were suspicious of it and thought that is presaged some tough weather were right.

FIRST CRAB

Some people take the first robin as a harbinger of spring, some say the first wild geese and wild duck flocks heading northward are the first sign, but Walter Schinkowsky has put his faith in the first crab.

The other day Walter brought the first crab of the season down town in a box. "Seeing is believing," said Walter. "I knew you wouldn't believe the crabs were out unless you saw one so here it is." Sure enough, there he was all right.

Now what a crab would be doing prowling around in January is beyond us. They don't usually make an appearance until the frost is out of the ground and the weather pretty well headed along the road to spring, but this one for some reason or other had come out of his hole in the middle of the winter.

Maybe he was looking for the new school house, the new park or the new sewage disposal plant.

A LITTLE LATE

Santa Claus, the horse, not the bewhiskered gentleman, was a little late this winter in making his appearance in Florida. He failed to make the grade on Christmas day, but here a couple of weeks ago he put in his belated appearance and won a race at a mile and a sixteenth on the turf.

Now that he's got started he is liable to continue his Santa Claus role even if it's way past Christmas time.

F.B.I., another nag mentioned in this column, won a race, but got so enthusiastic about doing it that he interfered with another horse and got disqualified.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver and Robin McKown

WHEN the S.S. Struma, a totally unseaworthy vessel loaded with 769 desperate refugees, sank to the bottom of the ocean off the coast of Turkey, on December 16, 1941, reverberations were worldwide. The President's War Refugee Board was set up to try to prevent further tragedies of this sort. Ira Hirschmann, who was representative of this Board at Ankara, tells a thrilling story of the efforts to save Balkan victims of Nazi terror in his book, "Lifeline to a Promised Land."

Rumania was an enemy country, yet Mr. Hirschmann and his associates were able to arrange for the disbanding of one of their most notorious concentration camps. He also extracted a promise from them that 5,000 children should be liberated for immigration to Palestine. But the boat that was to rescue these children never sailed. At the last moment the Germans refused to grant a safe conduct, and our government could not take the risk of exposing the ships to German submarines. Mr. Hirschmann was more successful when he worked with a group of young Palestinians who unofficially sent rescue boats to the Balkan States. His job was to arrange temporary entry permits so that these horror-pursued peoples could pass to Palestine by way of Turkey.

Working again with enemy diplomats, he also achieved an incredible success with the Bulgarian government, for after a conference with him they revoked their anti-Jewish laws and allowed 45,000 citizens to return from concentration camps to civilian life.

The Book-of-the-Month Club book-dividend for November and December is a beautiful edition of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" and "Through the Looking Glass," with all the original Tenniel illustrations, only now, for the first time, in color.

Here is a gruesome little story from "The Lost War" by the Japanese reporter, Masuo Kato. In war-stricken Tokyo, it seems, there was once a man who was determined to set a patriotic example by refusing to patronize the Black Market. With Spartan courage he limited himself strictly to the official ration. As a result, he soon starved to death. After his death his bereaved family searched diligently but could find no coffin except in the Black Market. In such a coffin he was finally buried.

Friday morning the light snow on top of the hard crust was a mass of rabbit tracks.

They went in circles, criss crosses and zig-zags as if the little animals had been playing some kind of a game in the moonlight. A clear cold night such as that with snow on the ground and a moon is just the sort of a night that rabbits choose for one of their get together celebrations.

SNOW BATTLE

With Charlie Vogt's big fleet of road equipment, plows, trucks, etc, Palatine carried on a successful battle with the big storm that rivaled the work done in lots of large towns and made getting around town a lot easier her in Palatine than it was in Chicago where one official said that their old equipment was far too inadequate to battle the storm and that if it had been as bad as it was in Milwaukee, Chicago folks would be using skis and dog teams to get around. He didn't say where they'd get the dog teams.

SIX WEEKS MORE

According to the ground hog who didn't have any trouble seeing his shadow Sunday, we are in for six weeks more winter.

A Northwestern University professor says we are to have an early spring. The professor bases his predictions on that like begets like; if last spring was early this one should be the same, and if last month was mild so will this one be.

According to his dope, if a ball team won a game they should win the next one and if a horse won a race he should repeat the next one. Wonder if the learned professor ever heard of form reversals in the sport world. Well, the weather has them too.

Between the ground hog and the professor as a weather proph- we'll string out two-bits on the ground hog.

I apologize for not having written before this but just haven't had a minute's time. I did want to drop you a line, however, to thank you for the splendid write up you gave our company. Not only do I, of course, greatly appreciate your report on us, but I think your idea of publicizing all the companies in Arlington Heights is an excellent one and certainly you should be recommended by the entire community for the boost which you are giving it.

Your weekly treat recipe

Here's a recipe to brighten your mid-winter menus. Pecan and date pudding was an instant hit at one of my recent dinner parties, and I'm sure you'll like it, too. The dates, pecans, eggs, butter, and whipped cream furnish nourishment for this new treat.

Pecan And Date Pudding
1 cup chopped pecans
1 cup chopped dates
4 Tbspn. flour
1/2 tspn. salt
1 tspn baking powder
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 Tbspn. butter
Method: Mix the dates and nuts with the flour, salt and baking powder. Beat the egg yolks and sugar together—add to the date mixture. Whip the egg whites until very stiff and fold into the first mixture. Pour into a buttered baking dish and set into a pan of hot water. Bake for one hour at 350° degrees. Serve with whipped cream.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

Som people seem to have a peculiar aptitude for "missing the boat". Life, with its boundless opportunities, passes them by. Harvey, whom I have known for the past ten years, is such a man. He is forty-nine, and has consistently "missed the boat" all of his life. Give him half a chance and he will talk for hours about how the other fellow got all of the breaks. But despite his earnestness, you will feel that this man has devoted the balance of his life to the task of justifying his misfortunes.

"It is all in the luck whether a man succeeds or fails," he tells me as I deliver his daily handfull of bills. "It's not what you know—but who you know that counts."

That is his theory, that is his song. The bitterness, the remorse and disappointment he has lived, are graven into his face as by a sculptor's hand.

Success is a relative thing. What is success for one person is failure for another. Many of us, if not most of us, satisfy our own ego with the thought that we have succeeded if we have our home paid for, or made a good living for our family, or when we get older, have succeeded in educating our children and giving them a good start in life. Another person will not be satisfied until he becomes the head of his organization, succeeds in business for himself, or becomes an outstanding political or social leader.

Success is a personal thing. If you feel that you have done all right, are genuinely happy and are satisfied with your life, you have succeeded as fully as the man who makes a fortune, becomes a great leader, or an artist.

But if you fail to reach the goal you have set because of your own carelessness or lack of initiative, and are unhappy because of it, then you have failed.

I think you will agree with me that the man who has failed to reach his goal after a lifetime of earnest endeavor has not failed.

The only antidote for the poison of a feeling like Harvey's is to strive at all times and on every occasion to make the best of one's life.

Questions on GI bill

QUESTION: I have enlisted in the Naval Reserve, and someone told me that I lose my privileges to the GI Bill of Rights. Is that true?

ANSWER: No. You are still eligible for all the benefits that law extends to veterans of the armed forces, including mustering-out pay.

QUESTION: I am a Navy veteran and have collected two Mustering-out checks, but my last one was either lost or stolen. What can I do about it?

ANSWER: Report that immediately to the Mustering-Out Payment Division, Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Cleveland 15, Ohio. If possible, give a description of the check, including date of receipt, check number, and full name of payee. Where possible, cancellation of the particular check number will be effected and a new check issued.

QUESTION: My husband is a disabled veteran and is receiving a disability compensation. Is that subject to federal income tax?

ANSWER: No. A veteran's compensation or pension is not subject to federal income tax.

QUESTION: I am a Navy veteran, and I think a mistake was made on my terminal leave pay. How can I check up on that?

ANSWER: Write to the Adjustment Unit, Terminal Leave Disbursing Office, Great Lakes, requesting that they investigate. Be sure to give your name, service serial number and home address.

ing that they investigate. Be sure to give your name, service serial number and home address.

It Happened Here

Morning of Hoar Frost
Some frost mornings have I seen.
But none like this, so crisp,
so keen;
All dreamily the rapt earth wore
A coverlet fair of powdered hoar;
Heaven spread an altar cloth and, lo!
The morning star shed candle glow.
Linked in the hushed and crystal air
The heavenly host join earth
in prayer;
Then they who stand to serve and wait
Swing wide the portals of morn's gate,
And when the last faint stars are gone
Their rosy feet proclaim the dawn.

Many blankets wear out before their time because they are too small for the beds they are used on, say the textile specialists. A blanket should tuck in at the foot and still come up well around the neck. Otherwise, the sleeper will tug at it and weaken the fabric. ## Urge metropolitan water system for 143 communities

A metropolitan water system to serve, besides Chicago, 143 municipalities in Cook, Lake and DuPage counties and adjacent communities in Lake County, Ind., was proposed in a report on Cook County water supplies released by the Advisory Committee of the Chicago-Cook County Health Survey.

Such a system is not only desirable, but would provide a more economical means of safeguarding the public health in these communities, most of which are offering consumers potentially unsafe drinking water.

The report, prepared by the United States Public Health Service as part of its audit of Chicago and Cook County health conditions, warned that of 89 incorporated communities in Cook County, 63 are furnishing water that does not meet the drinking water standards of the U. S. Public Health Service. Twelve of the 89 municipalities have no public water supply.

The proposed system, while including the Chicago water system, would be, under the proposal, a separate governmental entity established under a legislative act in much the same way as the Sanitary District of Chicago, which provides sewage disposal facilities to Chicago and part of Cook County.

The Chicago water works, it was emphasized, is now operating at only 84 per cent of its rated capacity at the maximum hourly demand. If the system were to furnish water to the 143 municipalities in the metropolitan region, it would result in an increase of only 11 per cent, based on 1960 population estimates.

Further, Chicago already is supplying water to 40 communities outside its borders. Eliminating their requirements from the estimated increase, along with 14 that own and operate water purification plants, "only 3,372 per cent of the total rated capacity of the Chicago system would be required to serve the remaining 89 municipalities," in the metropolitan area.

Name 5 points

Five points were cited in the report in support of a metropolitan system:

1. There is an unlimited source of water supply available for domestic purposes from Lake Michigan.
2. There has been a constant and rapid depletion of ground water resources in the area are dependent.
3. There has been a lack of action on the part of a majority of the municipalities to meet their responsibilities under legislative authority to provide a safe supply of water.
4. Continued use of hard water from ground resources adds to the expenditures of people residing in communities furnishing well water, because of soap wastage and expense of softening equipment.

5. Lack of an adequate water supply and distribution system for the entire area has resulted in inefficient development and land usage in the region outside the city of Chicago.

Communities which would benefit immediately from a central water system are those which depend on ground water for supplies and there are 65 of these. Although "it is not contemplated that all of these municipalities would require or could expect to be provided with a water supply from Lake Michigan through an integrated system for some considerable time in the future," many of the larger municipalities "will be in particular need of an adequate water supply in view of the continual depletion of the underground water resources of the region."

Among these are Elgin, Wheaton, Elmhurst and Des Plaines.

Diminishing supply

"It is a well known fact that the ground water resources of the area are being rapidly depleted," the survey said. "Sufficient evidence has been computed by the State Water Survey Division of the State of Illinois to substantiate this statement."

The report cited a well of the Aurora system as an example of the diminishing ground water supply.

"In 1929, the water in well No. 11 was 80 feet below ground level. In 1933, the water in the same well was 130 feet below the ground," an average drop of 5.5 feet per year. Similarly, the municipal well of Bellwood dropped 175 feet from 1913 to 1935, an average of 7.8 feet per year, and the water level in the Spruce Slip well of the Joliet water system between 1912 and 1942 "has dropped 188 feet, or an average of 4.3 feet per year."

The quality of the ground water is hard, the average hardness of 47 municipal water supplies in the area equalling 350 parts per million, as compared with a hardness of 127 parts per million for Lake Michigan water.

It has been estimated that soap savings, if Lake Michigan water replaced ground water as a source of supply, would amount to almost a million (952,230) pounds throughout the county, representing a savings per year of at least $234,190.

Several of the communities using ground water have spent tens of thousands of dollars in complete softening plants.

"All of the wells penetrate into Niagaran Limestone formations which are cracked, creviced and filled with solution channels through which contamination can travel for long distances without having the benefit of natural filtration, which other rock formations or soils could provide," it was pointed out.

Any supplies from a limestone formation must be "continuously and adequately chlorinated," the report emphasized. Yet, of 28 municipalities in Cook County having ground water supplies, 14 have no chlorination facilities. Five water systems failed to meet bacteriological requirements of the U. S. Public Health Service.

The danger of outbreaks of water-borne diseases is apparent. Turning to rural water supplies, the report pointed out that again most of the water comes from the cracked and creviced limestone formations through private wells.

The quality of this water must be looked upon with suspicion and should be checked for bacteriological quality at frequent intervals," the report said. Although the estimated rural population is 81,485, the daily number of persons drinking rural water supplies is augmented by an estimated 164,000 persons who daily patronize or visit country clubs, forest preserves, restaurants, tourist and trailer camps, and racetracks in the rural areas.

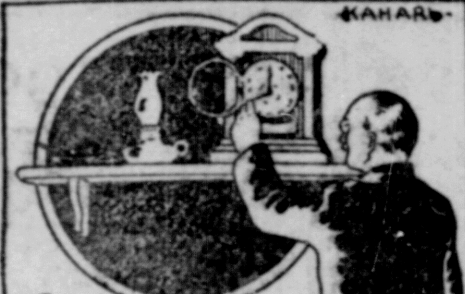

Approximately 7,000 new wells for individual home use have been constructed since 1940 when the Cook County Zoning Bureau was formed, the great majority in closely developed subdivision areas.

"This practice is not desirable due to the existence usually of individual septic tank and sub-surface tile seepage systems in each home having an individual well," the report declared, providing an additional argument for development of a metropolitan water system.

Ninety-eight rural school water systems also were surveyed and 64 were found to contain one or more sanitary defects. While only two had water of unsatisfactory bacteriological quality and four were doubtful, the survey emphasized that a bacteriological test means little when a sanitary defect exists, because such a test indicates only the quality of the water at the time of sampling. Yet, if a structural defect exists, the possibility of future contamination remains.

Washington Letter

From the office of:

THOMAS L. OWENS, M. C.

As the third week of Congress opened and closed it was apparent to those who were observing that a certain desperate struggle was being waged, particularly behind closed doors, but which broke out upon the open floor of the Senate and the House the latter part of the week. It arose from the effort of the minority party, aided by several of the Republican senators, led by Senator Tamm of New Hampshire, to prevent the organization of special committees, which are being formed for the very evident purpose of investigation. Charges and counter charges were leveled, the outstanding speech on the subject being that of Senator Brooks of Illinois. The Democratic minority effort was in vain, and the Special Committee to Investigate the National Defense Program was continued, while a new Committee on Small Business was also formed in the Senate.

The same flame was ignited in the House while Representative Mamm of Connecticut was delivering an address against the distribution of propaganda literature by federal agencies. Congressman McCormack, former majority leader, broke in upon the address to ascertain whether the House felt that it had the right under the Reorganization Act, to appoint special committees, and spirited debate then ensued between him and present Majority Leader Halleck, who pointed out that the prohibition against the selection of special committees had been specifically stricken from the Reorganization Act. The question naturally arises as to why such fear is being exhibited with regard to the appointment of special investigating committees.

Another struggle which appears to be looming is the question as to whether the Committee on the Judiciary or the Committee on Education and Labor of the House, of which latter committee your Congressman is a member, will handle all of the involved questions arising from the so-called "portal to portal" issue. The coming week should be the time for a decision on that point.

Road travel at record high

A car traveling public is driving more in the postwar world. The average passenger car owner used 651 gallons of gasoline and drove some 9,763 miles in 1946, according to the estimates of a prominent economist in the petroleum industry, James J. Skelly, president of the American Road Builders' Association, pointed out in commenting upon the increasing use of gasoline by the nation's motorists.

"Increasing gasoline consumption shows that the nation is geared to a highway pattern of living," Mr. Skelly commented. "A car traveling public is depending more and more upon the highway for business trips and recreational travel."

With 1,359,244 fewer cars and trucks registered in 1946 than in 1941, the nation's vehicles used a billion gallons more gasoline than in the peak pre-war motor year. In 1946, highway gasoline consumption rose to 25,200,000,000 gallons for the nation.

Recent surveys indicate that 30.6 per cent of the nation's families are awaiting to buy new cars. Some 51 per cent of the urban families of the nation now own automobiles.

Seek men for coast guard service
Enforced idleness of Coast Guard patrol vessels and closing of certain key lifeboat stations in this area because of critical manpower shortage is providing a serious threat to both lives and property, the Coast Guard announced today.

Facing one of the severest crises of its 150-odd-year existence, the Coast Guard must recruit several thousand men within the next six months to carry out its vital air and sea search and patrol, weather observation, port, and navigation aids assignment. Lieut. Comdr. W. J. Conley Jr., who is in charge of the program in this area, said:

Primarily interested in getting trained ex-servicemen from all branches of the service, the Coast Guard also is anxious to get new recruits as well. Particularly sought are mechanical and electronics experts. Veterans between the ages of 17 and 35 years of age who can fill critical ratings will be given petty officer billets and assigned to active duty immediately. Inexperienced men will be sent to Coast Guard basic training camp at Mayport, Florida, for six weeks of training before assignment to a shore or floating unit.

Suggest veterans secure physical examination as protective measure

Administrator Homer G. Bradney of the Illinois Veterans Commission has endorsed the proposal that veterans should arrange with their family physicians for a thorough physical examination within the first year after their discharge from service.

Mr. Bradney emphasized the experience in many cases of World War I veterans who became seriously disabled or died within a short time after discharge treatment for some disease unknown to them was neglected.

Veterans Administration laws provide protection for veterans who develop any of the more severe chronic constitutional diseases, such as arthritis, heart disease, and tuberculosis, within a year after discharge.

The veteran is thus protected if he has a medical examination within the year, and in many instances early treatment may eliminate the disabling condition.

Mr. Bradney stated that the examination should be secured through arrangements with his family doctor, since the Veterans Administration can only provide such service after the veteran has filed a disability compensation claim.

IVC Service Officer, Melvin L. Keche, at 210 N. Dunton St., Arlington Heights, will assist veterans in filing disability and all other claims arising from their service.

New examination for navy civil engineer corps billets
A new examination will be held in May for civil engineers seeking appointments as junior grade lieutenants in the Navy Civil Engineers Corps, the Bureau of Yards and Docks has announced.

The new examination was scheduled after the Bureau received indications that many applicants had failed to get adequate notice for the test to be given in February.

Candidates must be between 22 and 30 years old, must be graduates of an accredited engineering college or university, must have had three years professional experience in engineering, or related active military service, and must be citizens of the United States. Those who will have completed the three years experience or service by July 1, 1947, may be accepted.

The examination, which will be designed to test general engineering knowledge, will require two days. Applicants can get full details from the Naval Officer Procurement office in their area.

Vets' medical care

More than 100,000 disabled veterans in Illinois and northern Indiana obtained free medical care from the Veterans Administration during 1946, VA officials announced today.

A total of 32,488 veterans were hospitalized last year and 69,221 others received out-patient treatments. The VA operates five hospitals, 12 medical clinics and six dental clinics in the Illinois region. In addition, 13 other Illinois hospitals are under contract with the VA to treat disabled veterans at government expense.

On January 1 of this year, 337 veterans, all non-service-connected cases, were awaiting admission to VA hospitals. This is compared with 2,800 veterans on the waiting list May 1, 1946. Only 34 per cent of the patients were hospitalized with disabilities connected with their military service.

Veterans with service-connected disabilities may obtain authorization for out-patient treatment at any of the VA hospitals or at VA sub regional offices in East St. Louis, Springfield, Decatur, Danville, Rockford and Moline. A mental hygiene clinic is maintained at Michael Reese hospital, Chicago.

Dental clinics are in operation at each of the five hospitals and at the regional office at 366 West Adams street, Chicago. Only examinations are conducted at the regional office.

Cattle Feeds
Of the total feeds consumed by beef cattle 78.7 per cent is grass, hay and dry roughages. With lambs it is 95.6 per cent.

"Somehow, Telephone work seems different!"
Illinois Bell's more than 40,000 employees is unusually long. Nearly 14,000 have been with the company more than ten years. It shows they believe the telephone company is "a good place to work." And it explains why telephone people take more than just a "workaday" interest in their jobs.
These are the people responsible for your telephone service. And when we get all the equipment we need, they'll make your service even finer and faster than ever before.
"I suppose a lot of girls feel the same way about the work they do. But somehow — to me — there's an unusual fascination about telephone work. The people are so pleasant — so friendly. The work's important — and it's fun, too. I feel I'm part of a vital service."
This feeling is typical. It illustrates why the average service of

High corn yields grown on farmed Morrow plots

Like many Illinois farms in 1946, the Morrow plots—famed experimental plots located at the center of the University campus—broke some yield records.

The highest yield of corn ever produced on any of the 71-year-old plots was the 121 bushels grown in the three-year rotation with soil treatment, reports F. C. Bauer, professor of soil fertility. The same plot produced an even 100 bushels an acre in 1943. The largest yield in any previous year was 94 bushels in 1907. The lowest yield recorded for this plot was 41 bushels in 1916. The untreated half of this plot yielded 76 bushels an acre in 1946, or 45 bushels less than the treated half of the plot. This is the highest yield obtained from the untreated half since 1907 when the yield was 81 bushels an acre.

"The 1946 yields from the Morrow plots reflect the favorable influence of seasonal conditions," Bauer observes. "Seasonal, however, does not produce the only explanation for these yields. Cropping systems and soil treatment practices must come in for their share of credit. With poor cropping systems on untreated land, the favorable season was not capable of insuring satisfactory yields."

The Morrow plots, named after George Morrow, who was first dean of the agricultural college, were laid out in 1876 and are the oldest plots in America. The experiments are included in six tenth-acre plots devoted to three systems of farming: the continuous culture of corn; the rotation of corn with oats; and the rotation of corn with oats and red clover. During the first 28 years, no soil treatment practices were used. During the past 43 years, one-half of each plot has received a treatment of manure, limestone and phosphate.

Bauer revealed that the continuous corn plot also produced a record in 1946. The yield on the treated half was 85 bushels an acre. The nearest approach to this record was 71 bushels in 1945. The yield of 23 bushels on the untreated half of this plot is not a record low for corn in continuous culture on untreated land, but the difference of 62 bushels between the two halves is the largest ever recorded.

The yields of oats in the two halves of the plot growing corn and oats in rotation did not make a record for either low or high yields. The range, however, from 32 to 80 bushels, or an increase of 48 bushels an acre for soil treatment, is the largest yield difference ever recorded for these plots.

"This data is full of significance to users of farm lands," Bauer believes, adding his observation that "the yields on the low-producing land are getting lower while on the high-producing land they are getting higher. This tendency is shown by the differences between the average yields for the past 12 years and the 1946 yields."

The 12-year average for the low-yielding plot is 26 bushels in contrast with the 1946 yield of 23 bushels. The 12-year average for the high-yielding plot is 79 bushels in contrast with the 1946 yield of 121 bushels. When these yields are compared with the average yield of the early years, which is about 50 bushels an acre, the lessons from these old plots become more apparent.

Bauer pointed to four implications as disclosed by the long-time average yields from the Morrow plots:

1. Cropping systems devoid of legume crops are definitely declining in productivity. Roughly, the yields of corn in continuous culture are 50 percent lower and in the corn and oats rotation, 32 percent lower.

2. Red clover as the third crop in a corn and oats rotation without soil treatment thus far has maintained the original capacity of the land to produce corn.

3. Needed soil treatment practices are essential to maintaining and increasing productivity. With corn in continuous culture, such soil treatments have maintained original yield levels.

In the corn-oats rotation, corn yields have been not only maintained but increased about 25 percent. In the three-year rotation with red clover they have been increased about 50 percent. The high yields of the past few years indicate that the limits of improvement have not yet been attained. This data also reveals the importance of good cropping systems in attaining maximum effects from the treatment practices.

4. The Morrow plot data suggests a superiority for standover legumes in the rotation, such as the red clover in the corn-oats-clover rotation in contrast with green manure legumes, such as sweet clover, used as a part of the soil treatment in the two-year rotation of corn and oats. Larger yields are obtained where the standover legume is used.

LAW on the FARM

Posting Farm Premises. According to the Illinois law on farm trespass, any person who "Willfully or unnecessarily or without right enters any orchard, nursery, garden, or any farm premises or improved farm land of another when a printed or written notice forbidding or prohibiting trespass in general or in any detail has been conspicuously posted or exhibited at the main entrance to such orchard, nursery, garden, farm premises or farm land, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

There are no reported supreme court or appellate court cases construing this section of the trespass law. It would seem that the only posting required is at the main entrance of the farm. However, if there are fields not contiguous to the farm or which have a main entrance not leading into other farm land of the same ownership, then an additional posting might be regarded as necessary at such entrances.

The law does not require

IAA president tells youth to stay on farm

Protesting against the practice of farm parents encouraging their educated children to seek opportunity in the cities, President Charles B. Shuman of the Illinois Agricultural Association, today declared in an editorial in the Record, official IAA publication, that the "best place for rural youth to look for a full life of happy service is in their home community."

The Illinois Agricultural Association with 130,000 members is the largest state farm organization in the nation.

"It is time for the fathers and mothers, the boys and girls of rural America to awaken to their real opportunities. Opportunity depends on need. Nowhere in America is there such an unfulfilled need for the services of trained specialists as in the rural communities," Shuman said.

The mechanization of agriculture, he continued, and modernization of the farm home, accelerated by the attainment of a parity price position for farm products, has opened the door.

We need and will have new electrical and mechanical tools and conveniences, better roads, better schools, more rural hospitals and health centers, better land use and engineering practices, more decentralizing and modern processing plants and a great increase in air travel and transportation.

"Farm people will not be denied these modern needs," Shuman declared. "They would prefer that these services and needs be supplied by young men and women with an understanding of farm problems and farm thinking."

In conclusion the IAA president said: Farm parents should realize that the highest ambition of our most intelligent farm boys and girls could well be to make a family tradition of the most respected vocation on earth—agriculture. Well-trained farm youth on the farm is one crop of which we need not fear a surplus.
